Veteran Waldo Merchant, Deciding He's Entitled to Rest, Retires at Age of 89

ONE of Marion county's pioneer merchants is now on the retired list not because he feels incapable of being on the job but because he believes that when a man nears the 90 year mark he is entitled to take things easy.

This refers to William Gabler who is now out of the harness after having owned and operated a general store in the village of Waldo 57 years. His last place of business located in a brick building on the main street in Waldo is now owned by Joseph Gabler his son.

Bill Gabler, as he is known to everybody in the southern section of the county and surrounding territory and also to hundreds of residents in more distant sections of central Ohio has been an exceptionally active man. He believes and is probably right in thinking so the keeping busy has gone a long way toward having him healthy and vigorous.

About a year ago he was in an automobile accident which probably would have put the average man of half his age out of commission. For a time it looked as though even this sturdy old Waldonian might be through as far as physical activity went. But deep in his advanced years, he showed that his remarkable vigor and recuperative powers were still with him.

Mr. Gabler had partially recovered from a spell of illness and had accepted an invitation to take an automobile ride with a couple of Waldo friends. Near Bucyrus the machine was crowded off the road and upset with the old time merchant underneath.

Badly bruised and with threatened internal injuries, he was taken back to his home in Waldo, with exposure to a cold night air adding to his discomfort and danger to health.

After several weeks in bed and careful nursing "Bill Gabler was again out on the streets greeting friends and displaying his customary interest in affairs.

It was about that time however that he decided it was best to turn over his mercantile business to his son and sort of rest

CONGRESS IRRITATED OVER ENFORCEMENT

Free Use of Firearms by Coast Guard Brings Many Protests

WASHINGTON, April 25—Congress showed signs today of becoming irritated over the rough and ready use of firearms in prohibition enforcement.

Congress is dry sentiment appeared in full force on Capitol hill. It began with the shelling and sinking of the Canadian schooner I'm Alone 99 miles off the coast of Louisiana when shots were fired at the Norwegian fruit boat Juna when the mate from of Miami was asked with machine gun fire when Storeguard Frank Hurley was boarded in New York harbor and the latest episode the shelling of the American coal collier T. A. D. Jones have helped matters any.

As soon as the present investigations are, the state department hopes in almost daily fear that overzealous coast guardsmen may at any time be too quick on the trigger in the case of a passenger vessel and create a real incident. The case of the I'm Alone, which was admittedly a rum-runner, has proved exactly enough without courting any more flag ant cases.

Area Cattle Testing Most Effective Plan to Combat TB., Is Speaker's Claim

Transfer of Disease Between Animals and Man Proven Fact, O. S. U. Expert Says in Discussion at District Health Meeting Held Here Today

Control of tuberculosis in human beings and animals was the keynote of addresses at a joint meeting of health commissioners and nurses of central and northwestern Ohio which was held at Hotel Harding today. More than 70 nurses and commissioners from counties and cities in the Central and Northwestern health districts attended.

In one of the principal addresses of the meeting Dr. C. V. Brumley professor of surgery in the college of veterinary of Ohio State university declared that the area plan testing of cattle for tuberculosis is the most important and effective way of protecting the public from the disease. Dr. Brumley spoke on the control of tuberculosis in cattle.

Proven Reliable

The tuberculin test of cattle has been proven reliable as a means of determining whether livestock and especially cattle is afflicted with tuberculosis the speaker stated. He declared that in order to provide the maximum protection to the public it should be mandatory that all health officials demand that dairy herds in their localities be tested.

Dr. Brumley discussed the question of bovine tuberculosis from a health and economic standpoint. Some of the advantages claimed by the speaker for tuberculin testing and eradication of affected cattle are protection of health improvement in herds, increase in the milk supply and prices obtainable for healthy tested animals.

Increase of price of dairy products and cattle in tested areas is shown in the more important dairy states where the plan has been effective for some time. Dr. Brumley declared. He cited the example of the increase of milk production in Illinois after the Chicago ordinance requiring the tuberculin test went into effect.

Heavy Toll

"Tuberculosis annually claims the lives of 100,000 persons in the United States" according to Dr. Brumley. "It has been stated by some that both tuberculosis is responsible for a large percentage of this with the exception of pulmonary cases.

Pasteurization of milk and area testing of cattle is the best means of reducing the number of deaths from tuberculosis the speaker stated.

Quoting from Dr. Cabot, dean of the college of medicine of Michigan university Dr. Brumley stated that there are two sources from which human beings contract tuberculosis. One is from association with other human beings afflicted with the disease and the other is from cattle, swine and poultry.

It has been proven according to Dr. Brumley that tuberculosis can be transferred from man to animals and from animals to man.

In view of the fact, Dr. Brumley stated that it is hard to get satisfactory results from the treat

10 MEN, ADRIFT WEEK IN OPEN BOAT, RESCUED

American Schooner James E. Coburn Founders in Gale April 17

ONE OF CREW DEAD

Survivors Picked Up by Amida 250 Miles North of Bermuda

(Copyright 1929 I. N. S.)

ABOARD THE YACHT AMIDA, (Via Radio), April 25—Ten men, the survivors of the American schooner James E. Coburn were rescued from an open boat and taken aboard the Amida early today, 250 miles north of Bermuda.

They were all in desperate condition due to exposure, hunger and thirst suffered during the full week that they had drifted in the lifeboat since their vessel foundered in a gale on April 17. The lifeboat also contained the body of the Coburn's cook, who had succumbed to exposure.

Carried Coal

The James E. Coburn was owned by J. Tonneron of New Bedford, Mass. and was bound from Baltimore to Martinique with coal. The vessel a four-masted schooner carried a crew of 11 men.

"I sighted the drifting lifeboat at dawn in north latitude 34.25, west longitude 61.25 and changed my course to bear down upon it," Captain MacLaughlin of the rescuing ship said.

Food Gone

The survivors were in a sorry plight. Their food was all gone, and they had had no water for two days, drifting helplessly in a rough sea. Their hopes were nearly dead when we picked them up.

The survivors are Jose Pereira, master of the Coburn; Edward Rice; W. Milliken; Eugenio Salcedo; Joe Delgado, Joseph Madeiros; Manuel Silva; John Britto; Henry Andrews, and Ambrose Montage.

The body of the cook, W. F. Sargent was buried at sea.

There was nothing spectacular in the rescue. When first sighted, the lifeboat was about two miles distant. It was flying the American ensign inverted as a signal of distress.

The sea was smooth, every vestige of the gale which swept this portion of the Atlantic on April 17 having subsided. I placed the Amida alongside the lifeboat and took the men on board. They all had been in the open boat for nine days and were in a state of extreme exhaustion.

At this writing they still are too exhausted for questioning and their story of the sinking of the schooner is not yet known.

The program will open Sunday afternoon, July 24, with a concert by the Randall Concert Co., composed of six, a mixed quartet, an accompanist, and a violinist. This will be followed by a talk, "The Religion of Laughter," by Herbert Leon Cope. In the evening, Dr. John Howard Dickason, of Pittsburgh, will address the audience on the subject, "Young America at the Bat." His address will be followed by several numbers by the concert company.

"The Elias Tamburitza," a group of five Juro-Slavian serenaders, will present a program of music and several special features, Monday afternoon. The evening program will open with a concert by the serenaders and will be followed by an address by Julian R. Arnold, lecturer, entertainer, traveler, essayist, and poet, who will talk on "India, Past and Present."

Tuesday afternoon, July 26, Laurant & Co., four magicians, will present an hour program, primarily for children. They will also present a two and one-half hour program in the evening.

Wednesday Features

The program Wednesday afternoon will feature the Tiffany male quartet, and Mrs. Dorothy Haines, reader. The night program will open with a prelude by the quartet, and Dr. David D. Vaughan, professor of social service of the Boston university, will lecture on the subject, "The Challenge of the New Day." Following his address, an open forum will be held.

The program for the year will wind up with two plays, presented by a company of seven players, The Elwyn Play Co., which will present a three-act comedy, "You and I," Thursday afternoon. In the evening they will present the stage hit, "Lightnin'".

WAR VETERAN LAUDS POWERS OF NEW KONJOLA

"Konjola Is All That Saved My Life," Declares Happy Man Who Had Suffered for Years.

MR. FRANK RUPER

"Konjola is all that saved my life, and my praise for this new medicine cannot be too high," said Mr. Frank Ruper, 52, of the Soldiers' Home, Dayton.

"I am a veteran of the Spanish-American and World War and was never able to get the slightest relief from stomach trouble, kidney trouble, rheumatism and neuritis. I wouldn't eat or sleep. I didn't have any energy or ambition. I found my condition growing worse every day, and was greatly discouraged.

"One of my comrades urged me to try this new Konjola, and today I am enjoying perfect health. All the aches and pains have disappeared. My inner system has been cleansed and toned up. My kidneys and stomach function perfectly now and the rheumatism and neuritis pains have disappeared. I am enjoying perfect health, and I owe it, all to Konjola, the Master medicine of them all."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. OHIO IN MIDST OF MUD TOSSING BOUT

Davey's Speeches Lambasting G. O. P. Prick Skin, Cause Bigger To Reply

COLUMBUS, April 25—A casual glance at the newspapers today, yesterday and tomorrow, as well as the next day indicates that Ohio is in the midst of an election campaign for there's a lot of "mud slinging" going on

Martin L Davey, of Kent defeated Democratic candidate for governor is the chief dispenser of the dirt"

In two speeches, one at Newark Tuesday night, and another at Zanesville last night, the Kent "tree surgeon" did his darnest' to lambast the Republican party, Gov Myers Y Cooper and members of his cabinet

At Newark, Davey charged the state administration was being dominated by that Cincinnati gang'

Cites Higher Appropriations

Following up that lead and 'striking while the iron is hot,' Davey, in his Zanesville speech satirically pointed out that Governor Cooper was supposed to have assumed office on an economy and tax reduction pledge and that at the past session of the legislature, appropriations were $17 000 000 higher than at the session two years ago and that measures increasing the state taxes approximately $-0, 000 000 had been enacted

Neither of the speeches was regarded as sensational by those of the political circle who are 'on the inside looking at the outside" Davey said what most Democratic leaders were thinking and what the Republicans expected"

Pricks G O P Skin

It was thought at first that the administration would keep silent and ignore the Davey blasts.

But apparently Dave, s darts of oratory pricked the skin of the Republican state party M L Bigger Columbus attorney, and ardent Republican in a formal statement, challenged Davey to 'put up or shut up" as the popular expression says In other words and in the vernacular of the statement the Kent man was requested to withdraw his talk or prove it

Davey has announced that he will talk again at Akron tomorrow night and address a meeting at Cleveland Saturday night, which explains the 'tomorrow as well as the next day angle in the first paragraph of the foregoing

Not a Candidate

Meanwhile and by the way Senator George H Bender Cleveland and his "equal representation referendum hasn t been heard of within the week, which brings to mind the question as to what the Cleveland solon is doing But Bender is not known as a man who lets the grass grow under his feet, so it is reasonable to think he is enjoying the lull before the next storm of 'representative reapportionment' breaks

Davey declares he is not speaking as a candidate but as a private citizen and observer

CHATTEL MORTGAGES REACH HIGH FIGURE

More Than Double Work in Recorder's Office Here in Recent Years

Increase in the deferred payment plan of buying has more than doubled work in the office of the court recorder in recent years, it was stated today by Mrs Cora McKeever, county recorder

According to Mrs McKeever, practically all time purchases are recorded in the recorder s office Files in the office hold chattel mortgages on everything from automobiles, washing machines, electric sweepers to furniture, diamonds and jewelry, radios phonographs and other musical instruments About the only records of installment purchases that do not find their way into the recorders office are those of the purchase of clothing.

Mrs McKeever stated today that 1 015 chattel mortgages had been filed in the recorders office since Jan 1 This is an increase of 2,608 over the same period a year ago A check of records in the office shows that the increase has been continuous in recent years

Besides the huge volume of chattel mortgages, 125 miscellaneous papers have been filed in the office, according to the recorder. These papers include deeds mortgages on real estate and numerous other documents, practically all of which must be typewritten into the office records

VETERAN WALDO MERCHANT RETIRES

William Gabler, 90 This Year, Decides He's Entitled to Rest

go and do nothing but enjoy life. That's about what he did after a short time ago the store transfer was completed.

Helps Run Bank

Mr. Gabler still continues some business activity, however. He is a director in the Waldo bank and keeps up the "going stale" by helping look after its affairs.

"I am feeling fine, eat good and sleep well. What more could I ask?" is the veteran merchant's comment.

Sociability, linked with exceptional business ability and judgment, made Bill Gabler a success as a small town merchant. His store has always been one of the most profitable village business houses in this section of the state. People liked to trade there because they liked to meet the proprietor and knew that he was there to give them a "square deal."

The ready wit and the quality of getting pleasure from meeting other people which have always characterized Mr. Gabler are still with him in his later years. He will be 90 on Dec. 2 of this year.

In addition to operating his store Mr. Gabler served as postmaster at Waldo through a long period of years.

His career includes service with the Union forces in the Civil war, having been stationed with the troops in West Virginia during the great conflict of the 60's.

He has missed few of the state sessions of the G. A. R. over a long period of years, the last meeting being one of the few that found him on the absent list. At that time he was going through one of the few experiences with sickness that have fallen to his lot.

Sees Marked Changes

In winding up his 52 years as a Waldo merchant, Mr. Gabler recalls the great changes that have taken place in business since he made his start. He was a grocer in Waldo when there were but two stores there and when prices were only a small fraction of the modern scale. He was originally in business on the east side of Main st., but later erected the building where the store is now located.

He is a charter member of Canby lodge No. 51, Knights of Pythias, in this city, enrolling in that organization more than half a century ago. He still attends mass meetings on special occasions.

Mr. Gabler was born in Pleasant township on Dec. 2, 1838 when that township stood as mapped out in the original county plat. Later the homestead was taken into Waldo township when a division of territory was effected. He spent his earlier years in this home, which was erected on the site of a log cabin built by his father.

He tells how his father, John G. Gabler, walked to Upper Sandusky to register his claim to the old home farm. The trip was made through the wilderness, as there were no roads then. Later, when the father was working as a stonecutter in Columbus, he would walk to his home near Waldo every Saturday and walk back to Columbus on Sunday.

Now a "Suburb"

Needless to say, the Waldo of today is vastly different from the one of a half century ago when William Gabler began his business career there. He has seen an isolated village come to be virtually a suburb of Marion. The first modern transportation connection was established when the old Short Line railroad, later bought by the Pennsylvania system, was built nearly 40 years ago. Now automobiles, traveling over one of the best paved highways in the state, go from Waldo to Marion in 15 minutes or so.

William Gabler was married twice, his first betrothal being to Miss Laura Rupp in 1859. She died in 1872 and he later married Miss Lucinda Straub, who died 11 years ago. He is the father of five children now living. They are Edward, of Seattle, Wash., Charles, of Portland, Ore., Ralph, of Waldo, Laura, of Marion, and Mrs. Dorothy Plottner, of Waldo.

WARDEN SAYS LAW "IMPRACTICABLE"

Expects Ohio To Have Trouble in Enforcing Habitual Criminal Act

COLUMBUS, April 25—Ohio's new habitual criminal law is somewhat impracticable and may prove unenforceable, according to Warden P. E. Thomas, of the Ohio State penitentiary here today.

The act, recently signed by Gov. Myers Y. Cooper, after it had met the approval of both houses of the legislature, make it mandatory that a person convicted for the third time of any one of a number of specified felonies serve his maximum sentence, and a life sentence for a fourth conviction.

"It is going to take time and money to enforce the act," the warden of the penal institution which houses over 4,000 criminals said, "and to prove that criminals which the acts seeks to imprison have a record in other states."

ARCHBISHOP PLEADS FOR CIVIC ACTIVITY

Thorough Understanding of Problems Urged at Meeting of Catholic Women

accompaniments. Following the program the guests were taken on a tour of the city and to visit the Harding Museum and Memorial.

Pictures Future

Archbishop McNicholas urged his audience to inform themselves on issues, civic, political and moral, and to take advantage of the right granted them in the nineteenth amendment. He asked members of the federation to follow the principles and direction of the church, which has always stood for sanity in all measures and to carry this spirit in their charitable, civic and political endeavors. Archbishop McNicholas pointed out the great possibilities in the future of the organization and stated that its existence would strengthen the spirit of hospitality throughout the diocese.

"Considering the basic fundamental documents, I can see only a great future for you," he declared.

The speaker charged the women with not making their contribution to the civics of their respective localities and urged them to be greatly interested in all issues before the public. In responding to the question often asked as to why the Catholic church does not take issues into her pulpit he declared that her pastors were busy instilling the doctrines of the Catholic church.

"These are our moorings," the archbishop declared, "and when we get away from these we get into individualism.

"There is a perfect mania for legislation at the present time," Archbishop McNicholas declared. "Legislators have gone crazy enacting legislation. Thousands and thousands of the laws are not only worthless but harmful and the result is that we are burdened with legislation in many instances. The philosophy of today is to obey a law because we must obey it.

Opposes Fanaticism

"The church has always advocated temperance and the church welcomes those who accept total abstinence and blesses them with all her heart. The church has nothing to say against those who sincerely and honestly advocate prohibition but here and there are groups of fanatics who think that the only thing in religion, the only law, the only thing in the constitution is prohibition. You as a body can stand for common sense and can rebuke these extremists by standing for those with common sense and judgment to represent you. We as Catholics have an old form of religion, of loving our country; we have the issues before us and you as Catholic women will have to face them.

"I hope you will recognize your special duties in matters of civic duty, show a real interest in things of state and national government and have supernatural motive in doing all this," he said in conclusion.

Mrs. LeBlond's Talk

Mrs. LeBlond referred to the Blessed Mother as the model of all women down through the ages for purity, for goodness, for self sacrifice, for courage in suffering, for perfection in home duties, for dignified action in public when love brought her from that home, in opening her address on "The Catholic Woman in Modern Times."

"With her as an inspiration, innumerable are the noble women who have labored in the household of the everlasting kingdom," the speaker stated. "With this in mind it is easy to see that the present appeal to Christian women for religious and social service is but the echo of an old cry that was sounded by the angels at the birth of our Savior. Peace in temporal affairs, which means the corporal works of mercy that we perform; peace of mind, which means the proper adjustment of our thoughts and our lives to our families, our neighbors, our community and our country; peace of soul, which means our communion with God, the perfect foundation of all peace and all good works.

"The needs of your city and the country about here are not known to me but your spiritual directors know them full well. Consult your pastors, they may favor a lecture course, or they may have an immediate talk for you; they will be grateful for your help and will guide you in your undertakings. All this is in the realm of religious work and social service. Now for American women a new era has dawned. The development of modern democracy has given tremendous significance to ordinary civic obligations. The ballot, the holding of office, the formation of opinion about important issues, all these things mean so much to society that the hour has come when women, and I mean Catholic women, cannot afford to be ignorant concerning them.

Duties Outlined

"It is our duty to attend lectures, read and discuss civic problems and be thoroughly informed on all public questions. It is our duty to vote, and vote intelligently. Catholics form one of the strongest single groups in the United States. Nevertheless, we know when we gaze at the contemporary situation, we are also in some respects one of the weakest single groups, because we are not well organized. Catholic women all over the country are doing much to correct this failing. They are organizing in their parishes, their cities, their diocese and nationally. It has been said that they are better organized than the men.

"The greater number who tread the path of righteousness together the easier it will be for each. That is the reason for this organization. We all aspire to be good. We are alike in devotion to children, to home, to city, to state, to country, to school, to church, and to God's poor, but if the work is to receive recognition it must be done together. We must be organized. Organized in our parish to serve our pastor and our city; organized in our diocese to serve our Archbishop and our state; organized nationally to serve our Holy Father, our country, and to take a public stand on national and international problems.

"With Mary as our heavenly model, and 'Peace to Earth' as the angelic word, the women of the archdiocese of Cincinnati unit of the National council of Catholic women, like the Catholic women of preceding centuries, will never falter in willing service."

Monsignor Vehr expressed his gratitude at the hearty response of the members in the work throughout the diocese and gave a brief outline of the organization, purpose and objectives of the federation.

Call for Leadership

"There is a call today for leadership amongst Catholic women to which you must respond," he stated. "There have been great changes in the trend of women's activities and it is a great jump from the home to the rostrum. All can not make it, but some must and among them must be some Catholic women."

Monsignor Vehr urged the members to help those interested in vocational life and pointed out the great need of priests and sisters throughout the country.

Reverend Spickerman welcomed the guests for the clergy in a cordial greeting and spoke briefly on the exalted purpose of the organization.

"As Americans, we can glorify in the fact that our own glorious country has never in any way tried to limit the activities of our church," he stated. "As it is in the federal government, so it is with the nation and cities. Here in Marion we have a community spirit, the wonderful hand of fellowship is extended, and in civic welfare, civic activities we are now united. We know you are gathered here for the purpose of taking a definite, unified action as Catholic women and you have with you the shepherd of the diocese who will not only be an inspiration but will stand by you in all your endeavors."

Probst on Program

Dr. C. A. Probst, superintendent of the Franklin county tuberculosis sanitarium and former state health commissioner, was to speak this afternoon on the control of tuberculosis in children.

Separate meetings were held this morning for commissioners and nurses. At a meeting of the commissioners Dr. A. G. Beer, health commissioner of Columbus, led a round table discussion of sanitation in tourists' camps.

May day activities and nursing records came in for discussion at the nurses' meeting. Thirty-one nurses were present. Miss Helen Felkner, of the state department of health, discussed nursing records.

Miss Margaret Binley, of Fostoria, president, and Miss Bess Auxberger, secretary, of the nurses' organization, were among those present.

Following a luncheon in the Hotel Harding ballroom the afternoon meeting was to open. Dr. Charles A. Neal, state director of health, was to be here to lead a general discussion on health topics.

LI DISCUSSES CHINA BEFORE KIWANIANS

Columbia University Instructor Describes Conditions, Trends in Native Country

The present conditions of China, political, social, religious and educational, and the internal and external forces responsible for the rapidly changing conditions there were discussed by Dr. C. T. Li, an instructor at Columbia university, before the members of the Kiwanis club at their luncheon this noon at the Marion Club.

The international conditions resulting from Manchurian rule, and the almost continual revolutions to overthrow this power have been disastrous to China's welfare, while the conflicts with outside powers and numerous treaties unfavorable to China have all played their part in retarding advancement, the speaker said.

Three principles, to make China independent, to set up a democracy, and to develop China's natural resources to the benefit of all the natives, are part of the program on which progress is now being based, Dr. Li said. In an attempt to change China from the condition of a "lemon to a pearl," many are old customs of marriage, bound feet, and "pigtails" are being condemned, he said.

"China is moving forward," Dr. Li stated.

COLUMBUS FINANCIER COMMITS SUICIDE

COLUMBUS, April 25 — Louis Phillip Hoster, Columbus financier and bond dealer, shot and killed himself in his fashionable East Side apartment here some time between last night and this morning. His lifeless body was found this morning by his wife. There was a bullet wound through his head, and a revolver was at his side.

He was 48 years old.

FLIGHT TO ROME IS ELINOR SMITH GOAL

school, but she couldn't keep her mind on her studies. She was spending all her spare time at Roosevelt flying field studying meteorology and airplanes. When she flies to a certain destination she almost always lands at the exact spot she says she will. She has it down to a science.

"I became alarmed when she met with an accident at Hampton Roads when flying here from Miami a few months ago. But she steered the plane into a swamp and was uninjured. She has wonderful presence of mind. Aviators tell me she is an instinctive flier."

Miss Smith herself was quite modest concerning her latest achievement. Asked how she occupied her time while in the air 20 hours, she said: "Oh, I read Mark Twain's 'Adventures of Tom Sawyer Abroad' and dreamed of making a trip abroad myself—in my own way."

Her mother remarked that the girl's backers on her projected New York-to-Rome flight have already put up the money but they desire to have their names kept secret for the time being. There was some talk of a flight to Berlin, but Elinor wanted to make it Rome. And Rome it will be.

Elinor declared that had her gas not given out she could have flown for a dozen hours longer. She was feeling physically fit.

Her father, Thomas Smith, is a licensed pilot. He was formerly an actor.

Mrs. Smith, in revealing that she was 41 years old—although she doesn't look it—said that she, too, was on the stage for quite a while. She was in vaudeville, a singer, and also played a part in "The Ginger Bread Man."

"I remained for my girl, however, to bring us fame," she smiled. "I'm very proud of her, of course. And I now have so much confidence in her flying ability I would not worry if she tried to fly around the world."

MAY SEE "AIR WAR"

Planes in Sham Battle Likely To Come This Way

Possibility of Marion county being in the war zone of the "battle of the air" to be staged in this section of the country by United States army airplanes from May 15 to 25 was indicated in a news dispatch from Cleveland today. The dispatch said that Marion residents may see an occasional stray plane or even skirmish but no "concentrated battle."

The epic of the skies will be the biggest sham battle of the air that has ever been staged in this country.

Over 200 army airplanes will take part in the battle between the Reds and the Blues. Tons of imitation bombs will be dropped, thousands of rounds of ammunition will be fired, anti-craft guns will roar and searchlights will shoot into the night.

The headquarters of the two armies of the air will be located at Norton Field, Columbus and Wright field, Dayton.

The metric system of weights and measures replaced the old Russian system in Estonia at the beginning of the year.

Banquet Program Honors Winners in Basketball

The hundred and six men and boys were present at a banquet given at Central Christian church at 6:30 o'clock last night celebrating the winning of first place in both the Intermediate and Junior leagues and second place in the Senior church league basketball tournaments of the county.

The Rev. J. J. Tisdall, pastor of the First Christian church at Mansfield was the speaker, giving a talk on "Playing the Game of Life." He compared the winning of the game of life to the winning of a basketball game. These points stand out, according to the Rev. Mr. Tisdall: "Preparation; Obey the Rules; Cooperation; Unselfishness; Sacrifice; High Motive; Follow the Leader."

"Practice makes perfect in every line of endeavor. Success in life is made possible by learning to cooperate and work together with our fellowman. No one ever really fails who renders unselfish service. The road to victory is the way of sacrifice. A fundamental requisite in any line of endeavor is a high aim. The supreme need for a successful life is to follow the Great Teacher, who is our manager in the game of life," the Rev. Mr. Tisdall concluded.

Society Serves Supper

A chicken supper was served by the Ladies Aid society of the church. A men's orchestra of seven pieces, directed by Robert Schneider and a male quartet composed of Ralph Bowers, George Barney, Farress Hill and R. C. Taylor, furnished music for the dinner.

The Rev. George E. Groves, pastor of the church, presided as toastmaster and introduced the managers of each of the three teams, who in turn introduced the team members. The Rev. W. E. Hootman offered the opening prayer. The Rev. M. L. Buckley, a former pastor of the church, closed the meeting with prayer.

The intermediate team winning first place includes Ray Biddle, manager, Cecil Reid, captain, Rodney Killburn, William Thompson, Dwight Bargar, Francis Fairchild and Raymond Harrold.

SLEMP MAY RECEIVE PORTO RICAN POST

Former Secretary to Coolidge Likely To Get Hoover Appointment

WASHINGTON, April 25—C. Bascom Slemp, of Virginia, one of the foremost Republican factors in the erstwhile "solid south," is slated to become governor of Porto Rico under the Hoover administration, according to reports current here today.

Slemp, who served as secretary to President Coolidge, and prior to that represented the ninth district of Virginia in the house for several terms as the only Republican congressman from that state, is said to have found favor in the eyes of President Hoover for the appointment, and to have the backing of Secretary of War Good.

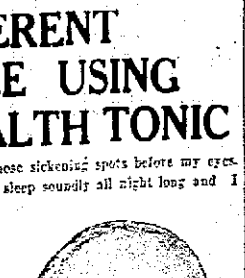
LIKE A DIFFERENT MAN SINCE USING NEW HEALTH TONIC

"I have suffered from several different health troubles for the past months. Nu-Erb has actually me feel like a different man and that reason I cheerfully recommend it to others," said Mr. Hiram Findley, R. D. No. 7, Kalamazoo, Mich. Mr. Findley is employed by the Michigan Central Railway and is well known member of the Kalamazoo Moose Lodge No. 88.

"My stomach and kidneys were in very weakened condition and I suffered from painful indigestion, gas sensations and sourness. My back ached continually. I was subject to almost nauseating dizzy spells and a pain appeared before my eyes. I really became very nervous, slept poorly at night and I was seldom free from headaches.

"I tried various different medicines although there were none of them helped me any. I finally read of the Nu-Erb and decided to give it a trial. In a remarkably short time it has done so much for me that I can hardly realize it. It has relieved the gas, sour and indigestion. The pain in my back is now practically all gone. My nerves are steadier and I no longer suffer from dizzy spells or these sickening spots before my eyes. I sleep soundly all night long and I have not had a headache since using Nu-Erb."



Stump & Sims, 121 S. Main is the only place in Marion where Nu-Erb may be purchased.—Adv.

ONE TREATMENT POSITIVELY RELIEVES YOUR RHEUMATISM

OR MONEY BACK

From Germany comes a marvelous new treatment for chronic rheumatism, gout, lumbago, neuralgia, neuritis, sciatica, etc., which relieves your misery at the first trial, or costs nothing.

German physicians have created a new medical transcutaneous absorption called Transkutan. Therapy, which works through the skin. Medically approved ingredients, they extract, are absorbed through the sweat glands and bring immediate relief to aches and pains, or your money returned. These scientists state that Transkutan acts quickly through the circulation to eliminate acid impurities and to drive out the cause of your agony. You don't have to wait for relief—you get it immediately or don't pay.

Some of the most successful European physicians have demonstrated to their own satisfaction that Transkutan can successfully administer medicines into the blood stream by absorption through the skin without upsetting the digestion, kidneys or heart.

Transkutan is meeting with such remarkable success, that it has been adopted by sanitariums and hospitals in Europe and the United States.

One Transkutan treatment is held by foreign authorities to be the equivalent in effect to 10 or 15 baths at the famous Spas in Germany where the wealthy go to get well. Even the first treatment with Transkutan No. 1 will break the grip this agonizing ailment has on your system, or money back. The Regular Transkutan No. 2 treatments, continued for a short time, depending upon the seriousness of your case, should show progressive improvement until all symptoms of the ailment are driven out of your system.

It just depends on how serious you are in wanting to get well. If you merely seek momentary comfort—don't bother with Transkutan. It is a real medical treatment and not just a palliative. But if you really want to drive the torture of rheumatism out of your system, start the Transkutan treatments today. You can, right in your own home, at a mere fraction of the cost and time, do as much as those Ask Henney & Cooper, 130 W. OHIO IN MIDST OF MUD TOSSING BOUT

COLUMBUS, April 25—A casual glance at the newspapers today, yesterday and tomorrow, as well as the next day, indicates that Ohio is in the midst of an election campaign for there's a lot of "mud slinging" going on.

Martin L. Davey, of Kent, defeated Democratic candidate for governor is the chief dispenser of the "dirt."

In two speeches, one at Newark Tuesday night, and another at Zanesville last night, the Kent "tree surgeon" "did his darnest" to lambast the Republican party, Gov. Myers Y. Cooper and members of his cabinet.

At Newark, Davey charged the state administration was being dominated by "that Cincinnati gang."

Cites Higher Appropriations

Following up that lead, and "striking while the iron is hot," Davey, in his Zanesville speech, satirically pointed out that Governor Cooper was supposed to have assumed office on an economy and tax reduction pledge, and that at the past session of the legislature, appropriations were $17,000,000 higher than at the session two years ago, and that measures increasing the state taxes approximately $20,000,000 had been enacted.

Neither of the speeches was regarded as sensational by those of the political circle who are "on the inside looking at the outside." Davey said what most Democratic leaders were thinking and what the Republicans expected.

Pricks G. O. P. Skin

It was thought at first that the administration would keep silent and ignore the Davey blasts.

But apparently Davey's darts of oratory pricked the skin of the Republican state party. M. L. Bigger, Columbus attorney, and ardent Republican, in a formal statement, challenged Davey "to put up or shut up," as the popular expression says. In other words, and in the vernacular of the statement, the Kent man was requested to withdraw his talk or prove it.

Davey has announced that he will talk again at Akron tomorrow night, and address a meeting at Cleveland Saturday night, which explains the "tomorrow, as well as the next day" angle in the first paragraph of the foregoing.

Not a Candidate

Meanwhile, and by the way, Senator George H. Bender, Cleveland, and his "equal representation" referendum hasn't been heard of within the week, which brings to mind the question as to what the Cleveland solon is doing. But Bender is not known as a man who lets the grass grow under his feet, so it is reasonable to think he is enjoying the lull before the next storm of "representative reapportionment" breaks.

Davey declares he is not speaking as a candidate, but as a private citizen and observer.

CHATTEL MORTGAGES REACH HIGH FIGURE

More Than Double Work in Recorder's Office Here in Recent Years

Increase in the deferred payment plan of buying has more than doubled work in the office of the court recorder in recent years, it was stated today by Mrs. Cora McKeever, county recorder.

According to Mrs. McKeever, practically all time purchases are recorded in the recorder's office. Files in the office hold chattel mortgages on everything from automobiles, washing machines, electric sweepers to furniture, diamonds and jewelry, radios, phonographs and other musical instruments. About the only records of installment purchases that do not find their way into the recorder's office are those of the purchase of clothing.

Mrs. McKeever stated today that 4,025 chattel mortgages had been filed in the recorder's office since Jan. 1. This is an increase of 2,008 over the same period a year ago. A check of records in the office shows that the increase has been continuous in recent years.

Besides the huge volume of chattel mortgages, 325 miscellaneous papers have been filed in the office, according to the recorder. These papers include deeds, mortgages on real estate and numerous other documents, practically all of which must be typewritten into the office records.

COLLEGE HEAD RESIGNS

FINDLAY, April 25—President Harvey L. Allen of Findlay College, resigned, effective Sept. 1, 1929. VETERAN WALDO MERCHANT RETIRES

and I do no hing but enjoy life A short time ago the store trans was completed

Helps Run Bank

Mr Gabler still continues some business activity however He is a director in the Waldo bank and keeps com going state by helping look after affairs.

I am feeling fine eat good and sleep well What more could I ask the veteran merchant's comment Sociability linked with exceptional business ability and judgment made Will Gabler a success as a small town merchant His store has always been one of the most profitable village business houses in this section of the state People liked to trade there because they liked to meet the proprietor and knew that he was there to give them a square deal

The ready wit and the quality of getting pleasure from meeting other people which have always characterized Mr Gabler are still with him in his later years He will be 90 on December of this year

In addition to operating his store Mr Gabler served as postmaster at Waldo through a long period of years His career includes service with the Union forces in the Civil war having been stationed with the troops in West Virginia during the great conflict of the 60s

He has missed few of the late sessions of the G A R over a long period of years the last meeting being one of the few that found him on the absent list At that time he was going through one of the few experiences with sickness that have fallen to his lot

Sees Marked Changes

In winding up his 82 years as a Waldo merchant Mr Gabler recalls the great changes that have taken place in business since he made his start He was a grocer in Waldo when there were but two stores there When prices were only a small fraction of the modern scale He was originally in business on the east side of Main st but later erected the building where the store is now located

He is a charter member of Canby Lodge No 61 Knights of Pythias in this city enrolling in that organization more than half a century ago He still attends mass meetings on special occasions

Mr Gabler was born in Pleasant township on Dec 2 1839 when that township stood as mapped out in the original county plat Later the homestead was taken into Waldo township when a division of territory was effected He spent his earlier years in this home which was erected on the site of a log cabin built by his father

He tells how his father John G Gabler walked to Upper Sandusky to register his claim to the old home farm. The trip was made through the wilderness, as there were no roads then. Later when the father was working as a stonecutter in Columbus, he would walk to his home near Waldo every Saturday and walk back to Columbus on Sunday

Needless to say the Waldo of today is vastly different from the one of a half century ago when William Gabler began his business career there. He has seen an isolated village come to be virtually a suburb of Marion The first modern transportation connection was established when the old Short Line railroad later bought by the Pennsylvania system was built nearly 40 years ago. Now automobiles, traveling over one of the best paved highways in the state go from Waldo to Marion in 15 minutes or so

William Gabler was married twice his first betrothal being to Miss Laura Rupp in 1869 She died in 1882 and he later married Miss Lucinda Straub who died 11 years ago He is the father of five children now living They are Edward, of Seattle Wash Charles of Portland Ore Ralph of Waldo Laura of Marion and Mrs Dorothy Hoffner of Waldo

Expects Ohio To Have Trouble in Enforcing Habitual Criminal Act

COLUMBUS April 24—Ohio's new habitual criminal law is somewhat impracticable and may prove unenforceable according to Warden P L Thomas of the Ohio State penitentiary here today

The act recently signed by Governors Cooper after it had met the approval of both houses of the legislature make it mandatory that a person convicted for the third time of any one of a number of specified felonies serve the maximum sentence and a life sentence for a fourth conviction

It is going to take time and money to enforce the act the warden of the penal institution which houses over 1 000 criminals said and to prove that criminals which the acts seeks to imprison have a record in other states

ARCHBISHOP PLEADS FOR CIVIC ACTIVITY

accompaniments. Following the program the guests were taken on a tour of the city and to visit the Harding Museum and Memorial.

Pictures Future

Archbishop McNicholas urged that and ones to inform themselves on issues civic political and moral and to take advantage of the right granted them in the nineteenth amendment. He asked members of the federation to follow the principles and direction of the church which has always stood for sanity in all measures and to carry this spirit in their charitable civic and political endeavors. Archbishop McNicholas pointed out the great possibilities in the future of the organization and stated that its existence would strengthen the spirit of hospitality throughout the diocese

Considering the basic fundamental documents, I can see only a great future for you" he declared

The speaker charged the women with not making their contribution to the civics of their respective localities and urged them to be greatly interested in all issues before the public In responding to the question often asked as to why the Catholic church does not take issues into her pulpit he declared that her pastors were busy instilling the doctrines of the Catholic church

These are our mornings the archbishop declared and when we get away from these we get into individualism

There is a perfect mania for legislation at the present time Archbishop McNicholas declared Legislators have gone crazy enacting laws Thousands and thousands of the laws are not only worthless but harmful and the result we are burdened with legislation in many instances The philosophy of today is to abet a law because we must abet it

Opposes Fanaticism

The church has always advocated temperance and the church welcomes those who accept total abstinence and blesses them with all her heart The church has nothing to say against those who sincerely and honestly advocate prohibition but here and there are groups of fanatics who think that the only thing in religion the only law the only thing in the constitution is prohibition You as a body can stand for common sense and can refuse these extremists by standing for those with common sense and judgment to represent you We as Catholics have an old form of religion of loving our country we have the issues before us and you as Catholic women will have to face them

I hope you will recognize your special duties in matters of civic duty show a real interest in things of state and national government and have supernatural motive in doing all that he said in conclusion

Mrs LeBlond's Talk

Mrs LeBlond referred to the Blessed Mother as the model of all women down through the ages for purity for goodness for self sacrifice for courage in suffering for perfection in home duties for dignified action in public when love brought her from that home in opening her address on The Catholic Woman in Modern Times

With her as an inspiration innumerable are the noble women who have labored in the household of the everlasting kingdom the speaker stated With this in mind it is easy to see that the present appeal to Christian women for religious and social service is but the echo of an old cry that was sounded by the angels at the birth of our Savior Peace in temporal affairs which means the corporal works of mercy that we perform Peace of mind which means the proper adjustment of our thoughts and our lives to our families our neighbors our community and our country peace of soul which means our communion with God the perfect foundation of all peace and all good works

The needs of your city and the country about here are not known to me but your spiritual directors know them full well Consult your pastors they may favor a lecture course or they may have an immediate talk for you they will be grateful for your help and will guide you in your undertakings All this is in the realm of religious work and social service Now for American women a new era has dawned The development of modern democracy has given tremendous significance to ordinary civic obligations The ballot the holding of office the formation of opinion about important issues all these things mean so much to society that the hour has come when women and I mean Catholic women cannot afford to be ignorant concerning them

It is our duty to attend lectures read and discuss civic problems and be thoroughly informed on all public questions It is our duty to vote and vote intelligently Catholics form one of the strongest single groups in the United States Nevertheless we know when we gaze at the contemporary situation we are also in some respects one of the weakest single groups, because we are not well organized Catholic women all over the country are doing much to correct this failing They are organizing in their parishes their cities their diocese and nationally It has been said that they are better organized than the men

The greater number may tread the path of righteousness together the easier it will be for each That is the reason for this organization We all aspire to be good We are alike in devotion to children to home to city to state to country to school to church and to God's poor but if the work is to receive recognition it must be done together We must be organized Organized in our parish to serve our pastor and our city, organized in our diocese to serve our Archbishop and our state organized nationally to serve our Holy Father our country and to take a public stand on national and international problems.

"With Mary as our heavenly model and Peace on Earth as the angelic word, the women of the archdiocese of Cincinnati unit of the National council of Catholic women, like the Catholic women of preceding centuries, will never falter in willing service"

Monsignor Nehr expressed his gratitude at the hearty response of the members in the work throughout the diocese and gave a brief outline of the organization purpose and objectives of the federation.

Call for Leadership

"There is a call today for leadership amongst Catholic women to which you must respond, he stated "There have been great changes in the trend of women's activities and it is a great jump from the home to the rostrum. All can not make it but some must and among them must be some Catholic women

Monsignor Nehr urged the members to help those interested in vocational life and pointed out the great need of priests and sisters throughout the country

Reverend Strickerman welcomed the guests for the clergy in a cordial greeting and spoke briefly on the allied purpose of the organization

As Americans we can glorify in the fact that our own glorious country has never in any way tried to limit the activities of our church" he stated As it is in the federal government so it is with the nation and cities. Here in Marion we have a community spirit the wonderful hand of fellowship is extended and in civic welfare civic activities we are now united We know you are gathered here for the purpose of taking a definite unified action as Catholic women and you have with you the shepherd of the diocese who will not only be an inspiration but will stand by you in all your endeavors.

school but she couldn't keep her mind on her studies She was spending all her spare time at Roosevelt flying field studying meteorology and airplanes. When she flies to a certain destination she almost always lands at the exact spot she says she will She has it down to a science.

I became alarmed when she met with an accident at Hampton Roads when flying here from Miami a few months ago But she steered the plane into a swamp and was uninjured She has wonderful presence of mind Aviators tell me she is an instinctive flier

Miss Smith herself was quite modest concerning her latest achievement. Asked how she occupied her time while in the air 26 hours, she said

Oh I read Mark Twain's Adventures of Tom Sawyer Alvina and dreamed of making a trip abroad myself—in my own way

Her mother remarked that the girl's backers on her projected New York to Rome flight have already put up the money but they desire to have their names kept secret for the time being There was some talk of a flight to Berlin but Elinor wanted to make it Rome And Rome it will be

Elinor declared that had her gas not given out she could have flown for a dozen hours longer She was feeling splendidly fit.

Her father Thomas Smith is a licensed pilot He was formerly an actor

Mrs Smith in revealing that she was 31 years old—although she doesn't look it—said that she too was on the stage for quite a while She was in vaudeville a singer and also played a part in The Tiger Head Man

It remained for my girl however to bring us fame she smiled I'm very proud of her of course And I now have so much confidence in her flying ability I would not worry if she tried to fly around the world

LIKE A DIFFERENT MAN SINCE USING NEW HEALTH TONIC

I have suffered from several different health troubles for the past few months. Nu Erb has actually made me feel like a different man and for this reason I cheerfully recommend it to others said M Hiram Findley R D No 7 Kalamazoo Michigan Mr Findley is employed by the Michigan Central Railway and is a well known member of the Kalamazoo Moose Lodge No 88

My stomach and kidneys were in a very weakened condition and I suffered from painful indigestion gas sensations and soreness. My back ached continually I was subject to frequent slumbering dizzy spells and my knees appeared before my eyes I finally became very nervous sleeping at night and I was seldom free from headaches.

"I tried various different medicines and as much there were none of them helped me any I finally read of the Nu Erb and decided to give it a trial. In a very short time it has done so much for me that I can hardly realize it. It has relieved the gas and sensations The pains and soreness is now practically all gone My nerves are steady and I no longer suffer from dizzy spells or have not had a headache since using Nu Erb"

Sad Reflection on America

A brief news story in the New York Times of Tuesday recalled to us the luncheon address made by President Hoover to a gathering of newspaper editors in that city the day before in which he so strikingly brought out the appalling extent to which crime had entrenched itself in this country and appealed to the press to use its best efforts to bring about a return to law and order

When the North German Lloyd liner Stuttgart reached her pier in New York Monday officers and passengers noted that an armed guard armored automobiles and a squad of policemen were at the dock apparently awaiting the liner's arrival

What for? asked Purser Emil Roder of the Stuttgart pointing to the unusual presence of armed men and armored cars

It was explained that the purpose of the guard and cars was to guard a gold shipment of $6 400 000 consigned to the Federal Reserve bank which had been brought over on the Stuttgart that without such a guard bandits might make an attack and make away with the shipment

At first the German purser could hardly be made to believe that such was the purpose but when finally convinced he began to comment on the difference in landing the shipment in Germany and unloading here in the United States

At Bremenhaven where the gold was loaded the purser explained a policeman in uniform was the single representative of law and order and he expressed the opinion that there probably wasn't any occasion for the policeman's presence on the scene

There's the story In Germany one policeman In America armored cars an armed guard and a squad of policemen And it may be said that the two guards given the shipment not only represent the difference in the public mind in Germany and in this country in regard to crime but also the difference between the extent of crime over there and over here

It's a sad reflection on this country when it is thought necessary to take precautions here against banditry such an are taken in no other civilized land on the face of the globe.

Economies Being Effected.

The transition of the Leviathan from a dry to a wet ship has attracted such great general attention and been responsible for so much comment in type and by word of mouth that it is not impossible that the average reader has entirely overlooked another change which has been effected on the great flagship of the United States Lines, Inc

With the sailing of the Leviathan on her last eastward voyage announcement was made in New York that her staff had been cut about 100 men and women and that the other vessels of the corporation would show a proportionate reduction in the size of their crews with the result that the force of the lines employed at sea would be reduced by about 360

It is estimated that the personnel of the crew dismissed averaged about $90 a month in pay in addition to their maintenance while at sea This in salaries alone will mean a saving of $9 000 monthly but the saving does not stop at that for in addition to the cost of their board the reduction of the force will release about thirty staterooms heretofore occupied by them which may now be utilized for the accommodation of the traveling public Figuring that the fleet's flagship will make at least one round trip a month this will mean a monthly saving of something like $16 000 more for the minimum first class fare on the Leviathan is about $280 and most of the staterooms may be used for minimum first class passages

The reduction in the crews does not mean that the ships of the corporation will in the future be undermanned It means that in the past they have been overmanned as is usually the rule in all enterprises under government ownership or management

We will not reduce the efficiency of the force William L Bunker vice president in charge of operations stated to the press at the time of announcing the change nor will we expect our men to do more work than we think they should do We are now paying ten per cent higher wages than our competitors and we find that our staff is well satisfied in every way

However we have found by interviewing employes that many of them have no regular duties and have been retained on the pay roll for no good reason That is the type of employe we have discharged The rooms that they have occupied are in the sections of the boat where the greatest demand is felt for added space for passengers We can make very good use of the rooms that are now available and can add greatly to our income

It can not be held that the letting out of 100 employes of the corporation offers ground for surprise It was to have been expected It is simply another illustration of the difference between public and private management a difference which often makes possible the transformation of a losing proposition under government management into a paying enterprise under private operation

Precautions Against Ringworm

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

Within a short time vacations will be in order Week ends at the seashore will be enjoyed

I regard the vacation season with some degree of anxiety It is a time when there is a letdown from the ordinary rules of living There is a temptation to indulge in all sorts of excesses

He is a wise man who gives thought to the fundamental things at this season He may imagine he is taking these outings for the sake of health As a matter of fact he may be subjecting himself to conditions which really hazard health

When we were children we regarded it a great lark if we could go without shoes and stockings When I was a wee lad I wore them so little in summer that it was a real agony to have to put on shoes

Modern life has brought new dangers With the increased use of swimming pools dressing rooms in golf clubs and the frequent trips to the seashore have come skin diseases which were formerly quite uncommon

One of the most commonly met skin troubles today is ringworm in one form or another All forms of our people have it

Now I beg of you not to get scared I am not telling you about something as terrible as small pox or even the old fashioned itch The disease in question is annoying but it does not last long nor is it serious in its effects It is a disagreeable but happily a quickly healing eruption of the skin

Ringworm is a purely local infectious disease of the skin hair or nails There are several varieties

When it attacks the finger nails or toenails it is a stubborn condition and results in considerable deformity Sometimes it attacks the scalp leaving bald patches

Quoting the United States public health service the disease may be described as follows In its mildest form the disease exists as either a little crinkling or a little scaling between the toes In many instances the so called soft corn is really due not only to infection with ringworm parasites * * * Any portion of the hands or feet may show one of these eruptions Rarely they may extend as high as the elbow or knees When the blisters break fluid always escapes to the surface and there is a wet coarse surface that usually becomes covered with scabs Itching is frequently intense

The family doctor will have no difficulty in giving relief But it is not in the cure of the disease I am interested today It is in the prevention Everybody must observe great care in all matters relating to the personal toilet in public places

Never run around a public bath room or dressing room in bare feet Always use slippers or else stand on a clean towel or newspaper

I doubt if the water of swimming pools is likely to carry the infection but the contaminated floors adjoining might do so The watchful care of public health officials and the cordial cooperation of the owners of high grade bathing places have made such establishments safe

Do not neglect any such precaution as we have considered today This is important not so much so far as your welfare is concerned but because of the danger of infecting others

Editorial Opinion

THE EXPORT DEBENTURE RACKET

The ostensible purpose of the export debenture scheme is to assist the farmers in disposing of their exportable surplus by paying them a bounty on what they sell aboard It calls for a direct subsidy indirectly arrived at The exporter of cotton would be entitled to two cents on every pound he shipped out of the country and the exporter of tariff protected farm products would be entitled to a sum equivalent to one-half the amount of the duty on the commodities he exported As export bounties are against established American policy a demand for a cash over the counter subsidy would have been fatal so it is proposed to approach the treasury through a side door The secretary of the treasury would not pay the exporter or a bushel of wheat twenty one cents in cash He would give him an export debenture worth twenty one cents at any customs house in payment of customs duties on imports to this country As the exporters of farm products are not importers of dutiable commodities they could realize on these debentures only by disposing of them to importers

The fundamental objections to the scheme are exposed in Mr Hoover's letter to Senator McNary They are numerous but broadly speaking they may be covered by the statement that the export debenture plan demands for the exporters of farm products a special privilege which is more likely to injure the farmers than to benefit them The proponents of the scheme are not satisfied with tariff protection in the home market as the manufacturers must be The latter must take care of their own surplus production but the champions of export debentures insist that the exportable surplus of farm products must be taken care of by the United States treasury which can only be done by a tax on the country

As farmers themselves are not the ultimate exporters of their products they would receive but an uncertain share of the direct monetary benefit from the export debentures This cash would be issued to the exporting corporations A relatively small proportion of its value probably would be reflected back to the farms The debentures would have to be transferred from the exporters to importers and in this process they would become the objects of speculation with the price-depressing consequences of which the producers are already acquainted Whatever enhancements of profits resulted to the farmers would tend to stimulate production which in turn would increase the size of the troublesome exportable surplus which it should be the object of farm relief legislation to reduce

The more closely one examines the export debenture plan the more clearly it stands forth as a gigantic racket for the benefit of the dealers in farm products at the expense of the producers The theoretical advantages it promises the farmers are far outweighed by the practical certainty that it would postpone if not defeat the permanent solution of the farm problem at which the congress should aim The unmistakable clarity of Mr Hoover's letter to Senator McNary is a warning to the country that it will waste its time and endanger intelligent farm relief legislation if it persists in advocating the export debenture scheme An anticipatory veto of any bill embodying this or any other export bounty could not have been announced more pointedly—Detroit Free Press

New York Day by Day

BY O O McINTYRE

New York April 25—The song lyricist is taking his place in the sun not only with his theme songs in the talkies but on the New York stage The demand is for more intelligent verse to take place of the boo boop a doop and rodeo de Janeiros Thus a lyric writer becomes as important as a composer

He used to be the obscure running mate in the song writing combination And his rewards were comparatively slight One of the most popular and about the most prolific of the lyricists is Buddy de Sylva of the tune making trio of de Sylva Brown and Henderson whose success this season was marked

The verse maker incomes are now enormous De Sylva's reward for the current year will total more than $200 000 Perhaps the most intelligent and witty lyrics are written by Lorenz Hart a young man in his early twenties This for example in his song in The Connecticut Yankee

Let the prudish people quarrel
We'll forget them for the nonce
If they think our love immoral
Dont soft pedal any pence!

Young Hart showed promise first with his irrisistable rhyme in the Garrick Galeties and his influence culturally upon the fraternity has been profound It is difficult to imagine for instance the lyrical gap between Irving Berlin's Alexander's Ragtime Band and his The Song I Loved

Hart and de Sylva have worthy contemporaries in Ira Gershwin brother of George Ballard Macdonald Morris Ryskind Irving Caesar Bert Kalmer Harry Ruby Howard Dietz Lew Brown and last but by no means least Dorothy Fields daughter of the equally talented Lew Fields

No phase of song writing has shown such progress as the lyrical end In the hands of skilled rhymers love ditties are no longer sentimental slush but tender and alluring And now with every important talkie featuring a theme ditty playwrighting rewards are becoming secondary in the amusement world

Coupled Suns.

BY GARRETT P SERVISS

What method is used to determine binary stars?—Arthur Bennett Detroit.

To determine whether a star is binary or not there is no method except observation A binary star is a double star whose component members are found, by watching with the telescope to be in revolution around their common center Ordinarily one of the stars is much brighter and more massive than the other, so that the revolution appears to be performed by the smaller star around the larger one as the moon revolves around the earth while the earth seems to order observation to stand still But, as the earth really revolves also, in step with the moon, around the center of gravity between them —which is situated about 3 000 miles from the earth's center in the direction of the moon—so the larger component of a binary star also revolves around their common center of gravity the two stars keeping at arm-length so to speak on either side of the center

The first measurement of the famous binary star Gamma Virginis was made by Sir William Herschel in 1780 but it was not then ascertained that there was a movement of revolution The entire revolution is now estimated at about 180 years

In 1836 the small star appears to have been in periastron i e at the point of nearest approach to the large one and at that time the light of the two was blended together so that no telescope then in existence was powerful enough to separate them At present you can see the two with good ordinary telescope

The method used for Gamma Virginis is the same as that used for all observations of binary stars But it only serves to determine whether they are in motion with respect to one another and whether that motion is such as to show the existence of a closed orbit It tells nothing about the actual size of the stars or about their real distance apart or the length of the orbit It does however show the length of time occupied in the revolution

By other methods the parallax or distance of the stars is ascertained and when that is known together with the observed angular size of the orbit and the period of revolution the masses or weights of the stars and the actual speed at which the orbital revolution is performed can be calculated This is done by comparison with the movements of the planets around the sun through the application of Kepler's law of planetary motion which tells us that the square of the time of revolution is proportional to the cube of the mean distance

There are binary stars whose components revolve so close around one another that no telescope has yet been able to show them separately but evidence of the motion can be obtained by spectroscopic observation of the shifting lines in their light and thus their velocity their masses their distance apart and the form and size of their orbits can be calculated Some of the binaries of this class consist of two tremendous suns revolving round their center of gravity almost in contact with one another and with such speed that only three or four days are required for a single revolution One is known which actually requires only eight hours! We ought to consider ourselves lucky that our sun has not one of these sidereal bull dogs choking him —Copyright 1929 International Feature Service Inc

CLUB ENTERTAINED

Pleasant Township School Group Meets at Seiter Home

Miss Hilda Seiter, assisted by Miss Estella Matthews, was hostess to members of the Romani Hodierni Latin club of Pleasant Township school last night at her home on the Richland pk.

After a business session the time was spent in selecting words of Latin derivation from the newspapers. A piano solo was given by Miss Seiter, followed by the singing of Latin songs by the club. Lunch was served by the hostesses. Misses Martha Mautz, Josephine Eichorn and Starling Somerlot were chosen as an entertainment committee for the next meeting, which will probably be a picnic.

Donald Vance was a guest at the meeting last night.

Let's Go!

Are you ready to "go" after a day's hard work?
If you are tired—lack pep—if your skin is not clear—if your appetite is "gone"—you owe it to yourself and friends to try S.S.S.
S.S.S. tonic effects will make you feel fresh after a day's work

Loss of appetite, loss of strength, skin eruptions, what is usually known as rheumatism, that "tired-feeling" and other human ills may be due to your blood not having enough red-cells.

REMEMBER, in years gone by, when you couldn't wait for mealtime; always hungry; ready to go somewhere—to dances, the theatre or to spend the evening with friends?

But why the change? Possibly, overwork, worry, lack of exercise, sickness or some other cause has reduced your building and sustaining "workers"—the red-blood-cells.

Rich, red blood builds and sustains

Every cubic millimeter of the normal, healthy human's blood should contain approximately 5,000,000 red corpuscles—those tiny red particles which flow along the blood stream, giving color to the blood; carrying nourishment to the cells of the body, and working against disease.

Thousands of people have a low blood count—to this may be attributed "run-down" systems, pimples and boils, rheumatism, and even more serious ailments.

When you get your red-blood-cells back up to normal, that sluggish let-down feeling, loss of appetite, boils, pimples, skin troubles, and those pains usually called rheumatism, disappear. You get hungry again and you sleep soundly; firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong. Your nerves become steady. You throw off diseases.

S.S.S. proven record over 100 years

You owe it to yourself and friends to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build rich, red blood—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

In building rich, red-blood-cells, S.S.S. improves the processes by which the body is nourished.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. Thousands of users have testified to its benefit in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

Made from fresh vegetable drugs, gathered at the proper season of the year, S.S.S. gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again.

All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Mrs. O. J. Eddy, Former Marion Resident, Succumbs in Washington

Word has been received here of the death, April 15, of Mrs. Otis Judd Eddy, a former Marion woman, at her home in Washington, D. C. At the time of her death, Mrs. Eddy was 82 years old and had been ill for some time. She was the daughter of George B. and Juliette Wetmore Smith, and a sister of Dudley Wetmore Smith, of Detroit, well known here.

She was formerly Miss Emma Smith, and lived here for a number of years. Dr. Eddy preceded her in death on July 25, 1928.

JUDGE THREATENED FOR HIS LENIENCY IN CASES

PORTSMOUTH, April 25—An anonymous letter, threatening death to Judge W. W. Sprague unless he is more strict with "Sunday movie" violators, believed to have been written by a religious fanatic, though being investigated by authorities here today, was not taken seriously.

Judge Sprague refused a police guard for himself or his home.

This climaxes the "Sunday movie" fight here. Portsmouth theater managers have been arrested four times for operating their shows on Sunday.

AIN'T LIFE WONDERFUL!

Button Rupture Newest Way (Without Pressure!)

SCIENCE now advises discarding steel springs, barbarous leg straps and other harness that press against the rupture and thus prevent nature from healing it. A new, sensible method has been perfected, after experience of more than 50,000 cases, called Magic Dot—entirely different from any other way. Instead of "pressing," it "seals" rupture, and, of course, allows users to run, jump, bend and cough in safety.

Rupture Help Breathes Air

With this 1-25 oz. device is a new kind of pad, air-porous and washable. It actually "breathes" air and cannot slip off the rupture—a feature, you'll frankly admit, that is lacking in your present appliance. In fact, it is so superior and different that it is praised by physicians as "an entirely new departure." Users report they have forgotten they are wearing it. But don't buy it yet.

50,000 Ruptured Users

"I am 80 years of age and have been ruptured 32 years," writes H. C. Atwood, of Los Angeles. "In that time I have tried many trusses, but never found anything as easy and comfortable as the New Science support. Magic Dot and Airtex Pad stay right in place." Mrs. S. M. Coovert, Amity, Oregon, writes: "My rupture seems to be healing nicely." George Gibson was ruptured for three years when he started using Magic Dot. He now writes: "I certainly f a big improvement day by day. My hernia has never co down once." F. H. Edwards, of Watertown, N. Y., writ "I gave my outfit to a friend who is also ruptured, and w I would like to see get rid of his trouble."

Ruptured? See It First!

By special arrangement you can now have it sent to y home. Don't send a penny or order it now. Just mail coupon for full description of "Magic Dot" and details this unusual offer. Act now for quick relief.

$1,500,000 in New Bills Needed to Replace Old Style Here, Is Estimate

Change to Small-Sized Paper Money Expected To Start Early in July; Approximately $300,000 in Local Bank Vaults To Be Exchanged

It will take approximately $1,500,000 worth of the new bank notes to replace the old paper money now in the vaults of Marion banks and in circulation here, according to the estimate of local bankers. Approximately $300,000 of this amount will go to replace the reserve now in the vaults of the banks. The remainder will be needed to take the place of paper money in circulation.

Although local bankers have received meager information regarding the time and method of changing from the present paper money to the new bills it is expected that the change will be made between July 1 and 10.

Various Changes.

The new money, it is said, will be the same sizes the size of the present bills. This, however, will not be the only change. The "yellowbacks," handled so greatly by those who happen to possess them, will be no more. The new money will be uniform in color. The face of the bills will be printed in black ink on white paper. The back of the bills will be printed in green. All the bills will be the same, with the exception of the figures, which are generally accepted to be the most important part of any bill, and the pictures.

Although one might feel happy with a roll of $1 bills bearing a picture of Washington, the utmost in thrills will not come until the possessor sees the features of Chase. His picture will be on the $10,000 bills, the blue-bloods of Uncle Sam's currency. The $2 bills will bear Jefferson's likeness. Lincoln's picture will be on the $5 bills. On the ten-spots will be Hamilton and on the 20's, Jackson.

Other Denominations

Grant's picture will decorate the $50 bills. The $100 bills will bear Franklin's picture. The owner of every $500 bill will have a picture of McKinley. Those who have $1,000 bills will see a likeness of Grover Cleveland. If one wants to see a picture of Madison on money they will have to ask for a $5,000 bill with their change.

According to information coming to bankers here, the government expects to replace the present bills with new ones just as rapidly as possible. Local bankers, however, say that this process will take some time, since the old money will return to the banks gradually.

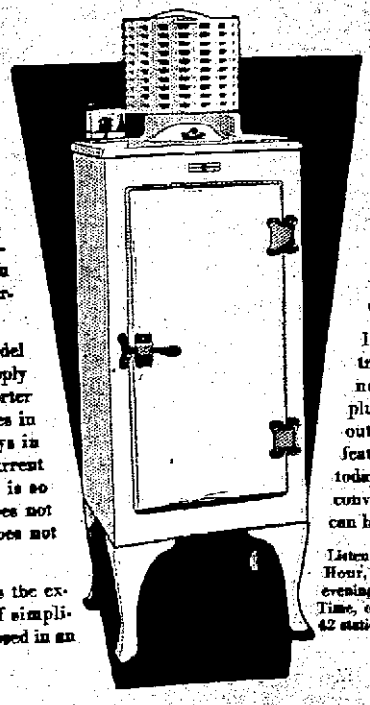
AN ALL-STEEL REFRIGERATOR
THE FIRST!
...THE ONLY ONE!



THIS General Electric is the only refrigerator built entirely of steel! Think what that means! It is sturdy and durable beyond anything that you ever believed a refrigerator could be.

This small-family model freezes a generous supply of ice . . . and in a shorter time. One tray freezes in two hours, both trays in four. It uses less current because the cabinet is so efficient that cold does not leak out and heat does not creep in.

And, of course, it has the exclusive advantage of simplified mechanism, enclosed in an hermetically sealed steel casing and mounted on top. This leaves the greatest area available for food storage and makes possible the up-on-legs model which is so easy to clean under.

In operation it is extremely quiet. It never needs oiling. You just plug it into any convenient outlet. See all its unique features yourself. Come in today. And ask about the very convenient plan on which it can be bought.

Listen in on the General Electric Hour, broadcast every Saturday evening, 9 to 10 Eastern Standard Time, over the N. B. C. network of 42 stations.

Judge Martin Has Record of Disposing of 4,500 Cases Since Taking Office

Editor's Note—This is the third of a series of articles prepared for the purpose of giving Marion citizens a closer acquaintance with their city officials. The plan is to include all municipal officials and employes in the series.

WILLIAM R. MARTIN has been judge of Marion's municipal court since January 1, 1927, and now assuming his duties has disposed of approximately 4,500 cases. In addition he has disposed of many traffic cases, and settlers for the assignment of wages.

The large number of cases handled through this court makes it necessary for Judge Martin to arrange his hearings on a schedule. The mornings are usually devoted to hearings resulting from police arrests, and petty criminal arraignments. The afternoons are taken up with civil actions and some of the more lengthy trials. Fridays are reserved for traffic misdemeanor cases.

Judge Martin was born at Richwood on Sept. 20, 1890 and moved from there with his family to Columbus Grove before reaching school age.

At Columbus Grove he received part of his education, later moving to Marion to complete high school work in 1917. He took up law at Ohio Northern University at Ada and graduated in 1920. On Jan. 1, 1921, he hung out his shingle as a practicing lawyer. He defeated four contestants in the November 1920 election, being named as the city's first municipal judge and one of the youngest in the country. He is a Republican.

He was in army training a few months at Columbus barracks, Camp Taylor, Kentucky, and Camp Funston, Kansas, but did not leave this country in the service.

He was married to Miss Mildred Lutz of Marion in September, 1920. They and their one daughter, Marjory, reside at 1180 East Church st.

He is a member of the Knights of Pythias, Elks, Eagles, and American Legion. He has no particular hobbies, but is a follower of nearly all outdoor sports.

WITH THE STAR STAFF

Party at Jail

AN old fashioned turtle supper with all the trimmings was enjoyed one night this week by prisoners in the Marion county jail.

The prisoners were really the guests of Fred C. Lutz, North Main st. grocer. For several years Lutz has been one of the grocers for the county jail. On this particular day of the supper he slipped a couple of turtles into the jail market basket.

Thirty prisoners gathered around the boards for the repast.

Hirsute Statistics

HAIR is valuable as an adornment for the masculine dome but when reduced to clippings on the floor of a barbershop it becomes absolutely worthless, according to authoritative information coming from a well-known Marion tonsorialist who for lo these many years has been engaged in the rather discouraging task of trying to make men attractive.

In more recent years his artistic touch, like that of practically all other barbers, has also been directed toward the easier undertaking of feminine beautification. As far as hair-clippings are concerned, however, the shorn tresses of the female are of no more value than the shorter remnants from the skull of the male. Not even practical in the making of plaster, which requires the coarser texture of horse-hair.

While it's nothing to worry about, statistics show that Marion men spend from approximately $5.50 to $25 annually for hair cuts. The smaller figure, of course, is that expended by staid married men and others who apparently feel that they no longer have much incentive for appearing "dolled up."

Between these males of the shaggier type and those who fairly haunt the barbershops for the purpose of maintaining high rank among the modern shieks, nothing short of a small mountain of hair shearings would be accumulated should all of the sweepings from local barbershops be collected in the course of a year.

But as no one is particularly interested, there will never be any effort made to prove this assertion.

Although no one has ever gone to the trouble of making an official record, this veteran Marion barber says that the average local man has his skull-landscaped once every three weeks—17 times a year. Then there are some of the vainer class who have their crowning glory touched up once a week. Others become negligent and indifferent through close attention to business duties, and forgetting all about personal appearance, let the old thatch grow undisturbed for a month or longer.

But three weeks is the average time between cuts, so remember that when the subject comes up for discussion before the League of Nations or United States senate.

Here are some other facts and figures about hair which the old-time barber says are indisputable because no one seems to know anything to the contrary. Hair grows at the rate six inches a year, half an inch a month, eighth of an inch a week. Three weeks bring three-eighths of an inch, which doesn't seem to be very long but which is just enough to make the average male dome begin to look like an untrimmed stubble field.

Rags Discarded

PROFESSIONAL beggars these days are a far cry from the ballyhoo men of yesterday, who went around in rags, bent and decrepit, asking for a thin dime or a cup of coffee.

Today the boys appear at your door, neatly dressed and with the cosmopolitan air born of visiting cities from coast to coast, and present their cards.

In most cases the presenting of these cards bearing the statement that the owner would like financial aid, lead the prospective donor of alms to believe that the cosmopolite is deaf and dumb. But get them started talking once and you'll find that many of them are rovers of the earth and can tell interesting stories and experiences in their long lines of travel.

Early Training

ANOTHER field of activity formerly occupied solely by the male has been invaded by the opposite sex.

Marion school girls are playing marbles this year and without doubt the same situation prevails in other communities throughout the country.

And why not? Aunt, sister, mother and frequently a grandmother are usurping the men everywhere between the home and the barbershop and there's no work or pastime too masculine to be taken up in this modern trend.

Instead of there being any likelihood of a change back to old-time customs, the probability is that the trend will be in the other direction. There are those who predict that men will be decidedly second-raters in all forms of occupation and competition in the distant future, so it behooves the young misses of today to start early in their training.

So it is that the time-honored sport of marble shooting is no longer the exclusive pastime of the American boy. Before the lapse of many years it may be expected that the lad who is willing to risk his marble collection in a game of "for keeps" with a feminine competitor will have to be exceptionally expert if he escapes being thoroughly "cleaned."

TIME WAS when motorists were fearful that the gasoline they bought might be the last few gallons out of the storage or dealer tank.

Today motorists need have no such fear. For the petroleum industry of today employs every possible device to protect the motorist against gasoline impurities.

The best practice of the petroleum industry dictates that each modern storage tank shall be "bottomless." Outlet pipes, from which the gasoline is drawn, are above the bottom of the tank. Thus it is impossible to draw off the last few gallons remaining in storage or dealer tanks. Any sediment unavoidably accumulated in the tank sinks to the bottom, below the outlet pipe level, and cannot reach the motorist's own gasoline tank.

The Standard Oil Company of Ohio employs the most modern and approved methods known to the oil industry. Sohio and Red Crown gasolines are produced in the most modern refineries so far perfected. You may buy these or any other Standard Oil (Ohio) products in full confidence that every detail of their manufacture and distribution meets the strictest requirements of Petroleum's highest standards. Standard Oil (Ohio) products are on sale not only at the familiar Red-White-and-Blue Standard Service Stations, but also at thousands of dealers' stores and garages throughout Ohio.

Summer SOHIO ETHYL GASOLINE ANTI-KNOCK

RED CROWN GASOLINE—The same standards of care and uniformity also control the manufacturing and distribution of Red Crown. We make Red Crown gasoline in the same great plants that produce Sohio, however, and recommend Red Crown for those makes of cars whose motorists want as fine a gasoline as we might buy in the open market.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it Of next importance then is how to treat it when it comes Dr Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible hence his remedy for constipation known as Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild vegetable compound It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation Syrup Pepsin is pleasant tasting and youngsters love it It does not gripe Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect

Dr Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their systems In a practice of 17 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly more cleanly and gentle without griping and harm to the system

Keep free from constipation It robs your strength hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age Do not let a day go by with out a bowel movement Do not sit and hope but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Syrup Pepsin Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person

Get a bottle today at any drug store and observe these three rules of health Keep the head cool the feet warm the bowels open —Adv

The Forbidden Door

WHAT TERRIBLE EVIL LAY BEHIND ITS MASK?

BY HERMAN LANDON

THIRTY NINE

FOR a moment Julia stared at him in stupefaction. Then she started angrily. "You mean——"

"If the poets are to be believed, love is deathless," said Mallingham with a chuckle. "Probably Maxwell is still in love with you. If not you can easily resuscitate his passion. He is at present a great deal more now than he did a few years ago. Why don't make him your slave again? Make him tell you all he knows. Make him take you safely through the iron door and open Old Winthrop's treasure chests for you. You can do it if you will."

Julia sat very still. The suggestion seemed to have staggered her. A thoughtful frown gathered on her white forehead. Absently, with a wisp of a handkerchief she touched her eyes. She smiled vaguely.

And then she asked. "Suppose Maxwell is alive suppose there is still something of great value behind the iron door suppose I do all that you have suggested what then"

Mallingham bowed his fine even teeth in a smile. In a preoccupied way he rubbed his eyelids. I once saw one of the loveliest places in the world — a mountain one looking Monte Carlo. I would like to buy that mountain top and build a castle for you there. I would like to adorn you with the loveliest silk satins and jewels in the world. I would like to show you how splendid and wonderful life can be.

What else she asked wistfully. Isn't it enough? Oh well, throw in a few magnificent yachts and a villa here and there for good measure. Are you satisfied"

No she declared coldly and her lips curled scornfully. It isn't enough, but you would never understand. Ernest, I haven't understood you until just recently. Again she licked her handkerchief across her eyes. Besides, we have been supposing too many things that may not be so. I don't believe we shall ever get out of this dreadful place alive. And I don't believe Maxwell is living. I won't believe it! I——

Hush said Mallingham. I believe there's some one at the door.

He crossed the floor flung the door open and looked out.

Curious he said blinking his eyes a little. I was almost certain—— Well, seating himself again "if Max is not alive how do you explain the voice we heard last night"

"Some magician trick.

Mallingham shook his head. "No, that explanation won't do. It's too simple. Isn't it more reasonable to suppose——Now what the devil——"

He sprang up. Without warning the door had suddenly swung open. He stared into the opening then at Julia. She shuddered while she looked rigidly into the empty space.

"Ernest!" she cried huskily. There is some one standing in the doorway.

I don't see anybody Mallingham's voice was thick and hoarse.

I don't either but I feel there must be somebody. Oh Ernest——"

Julia clung to him breast and shoulders heaving in an ecstasy of blind instinctive fear. Roughly trying to conceal his own agitation he pushed her from him. He took the little oil lamp from the table, held it aloft moved a few steps toward the door.

"Nonsense he muttered. There's nobody. You are only imagining things."

But what made the door open? She stared into the shadowy door way her arms raised her hands clamped tightly across her face.

A puff of wind perhaps said Mallingham in an effort at banter. Anyway there's no cause for alarm. It's only——

He shrank back a step. The lamp shook in his hand. Across the threshold came a footfall.

"You are right Mallingham" said a voice. "There is no cause for alarm. Compose yourself Julia. We are going to talk. Let's sit down."

A small rowdyish cry broke from Julia's lips. With a fresh shudder she staggered back and fell into the arms of a chair. With a gesture of bluster that was mocked by his gray pallor Mallingham lighted a cigaret.

Suppose you introduce yourself Mallingham suggested. There was a sneer in his tone but it sounded false.

Footsteps advanced a chair squeaked slightly beneath some one's weight.

"I think you have guessed who I am," said the voice in a conversational tone. "Anyway Julia has got a grip on yourself, Mallingham. I am surprised to see you go to pieces like that. You of all persons, Mallingham! Look at him Julia. Is he the heroic figure you thought he was?"

Julia buried her face in her hands and whimpered hysterically. Mallingham's slack jaw tightened a little at the taunt.

"Damn me if I seem a bit mad" he murmured sarcastically. "This is a new experience in my life. I am not accustomed to carrying on conversations with persons whom I cannot see.

"I understand. It must be rather bewildering. For the present it suits my convenience to come and go like this. With so many people in the house it is best I should not be seen. There would be all sort of rumors and speculations you know.

"Your discretion is to be commended Mallingham sneered. "Well heaven be praised I have discovered a new thing under the sun. Life was getting a bit stale. Now——" He essayed a laugh. This has been worth being buried alive for. I've met all sorts of persons in my hectic life but this is my first introduction to an invisible one."

"Talk on said the voice. It seems to soothe your nerves. There are in a bad state aren't they Mallingham with ugh you are trying hard to bluff it out. When you are through I'll have something to say.

Why not say it now"

Julia raised her head. In an inexplicable way he felt that the speaker was looking to her direction.

Julia —the voice had a gentler ring now— I want you to understand one thing. I am not blaming you for what happened. It was my fault. I should never have asked you to marry me. But I was infatuated —madly infatuated —and — Well what's done is done. Your beauty has been the curse of my life. It enslaved me and made me a fool. My weakness was at fault. Your heart and your impulses were good and true—in the beginning at least.

A touch of scorn and contempt came into his voice.

We know what happened Mallingham attracted you with his polished manner and his intriguing air. You couldn't see the snake behind the fascination of his personality. Little by little he won you over. Remember I am not blaming you. He is a persuasive and plausible scoundrel. You entered into a conspiracy with him."

He groaned a little. His voice had a humble and penitent quality.

I was blind—dazzled by your loveliness and hypnotized by your subtle personality. But my eyes opened at last. I— But we needn't go into that." The voice paused. For a little while it seemed as if the only occupants of the room were Mallingham and Julia.

Mallingham —the voice hardened again— you are beneath contempt. You are dishonest hypocritical treacherous and greedy. Above all else you are greedy. Greed has been the mainspring of your whole rotten life. I shan't waste words on a viper like you. I'll only say this—you are going to get just the sort of punishment you deserve.

Mallingham trembled. The threat spoken in a low tone and with a little hiss, and coming out of sheer emptiness, was singularly terrifying. His face was ashen and pulsed. With an air of false bravado he lighted a fresh cigaret.

Look at him Julia. See his hand shake. See how frightened he looks. And what is he afraid of? Of me—an old broken man. Ha!

His mocking laugh rasped sharply on the brief silence that ensued.

For heaven's sake! Mallingham jerked out in shaky accents, if you have anything more to say say it and be gone!"

I'm almost through. All that remains is your punishment. Mallingham you're a greedy and contemptible fool. You've wasted the best years of your life reaching for the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. Well you have almost reached it. The pot of gold is here. You could almost put out your hand and touch it. You are so near to it—and yet so very far. Shall your punishment—to come within reach of the thing you have hankered after all your life and yet not be able to grasp it. For a man like you I can't think of a worse punishment.

You're raving said Mallingham thickly. His smoldering eyes search in the emptiness out of which the voice was speaking.

You know I am not. You know I am speaking the truth. Behind the iron door there is something which could be easily converted into a vast fortune—$ 0 000 000 perhaps.

Think of it Mallingham. That fortune is only 15 feet from where you are standing this moment. It represents all that you have wasted your life and hardened your soul for. It would be very easy to get hold of it—if you know how.

Now the voice had a silken haunting quality. Mallingham's gray twitching face was a picture of dread and baffled desire.

What is this thing you are talking about? he demanded.

A low mocking laugh was the only response.

Tell me said Mallingham hoarsely or I'll know you are lying.

No you know I am speaking the truth. That's why you are beating yourself with envy and disappointment. You know you are beaten—beaten within a few feet of your goal. This is the bitterest moment in your life. I can see it in your face.

Show me this thing Mallingham bawled and then I'll believe you."

You don't need proof. You are convinced already. Just the same, I am demonstrating Old Winthrop's secret to you this very moment. You can't see me yet you know I am sitting in this chair. You know I am real. You can hear me. You can feel me——

The chair squeaked a little. Mallingham shrank back as footsteps came toward him. He uttered a horrified squeal as a hand brushed his face.

There! I have proved I am real and human in every respect haven't I? I am the personification of the secret for which Old Wintrop was offered $20 000 000. Think of it Mallingham—$20 000,000 almost at your fingertips! And you are never going to touch a penny of it. Tough luck!

Mallingham's impassioned face and the greedy smolder in his eyes bespoke an agony of frustration.

Watch me," said the voice.

Julia drew herself up. A look of tormenting expectancy came into Mallingham's stricken face. He stared into the void from which the voice came. And slowly, out of nothingness, there emerged a faint, quivering shimmer. It swelled and took on color. It assumed a human shape. Julia sprang to her feet. A groan escaped Mallingham's tight lips. He was witnessing the strangest sight of his life.

Before him stood a man garbed from head to foot in bright green. A green hood covered his face, meeting the soft green collar at his throat. Long green gloves and green shoes covered his hands and feet. He was looking at them with a fiendishly smiling gaze, partly dimmed by ovals of green-colored glass inserted in the hood over the eyes.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M LEWIS

TODAY was Thursday and it was trying to rain but couldn't and a sparrow was trying to sing, but couldn't. Spring is that way. It makes a lot of things think they can do what they can't. When I had got the dimmed brutes fed and milked and was straining my milk I heard my aunt in the other room and she was reading

Every road we go along
Every field is fair
Spring has come across the world
Blossoms in her hair
Every tree we meet to-day
Brings a new perfume
Every dogwood in the world
Is bursting into bloom

Then my uncle asked my aunt to read it again and she did and he said. Gee Sis I didn't think you could write anything like that! I thought it was pretty too—it was so sort of singy and I kept saying it over to myself when I was going into the dining room and whilst I was waiting for my father to help my plate and my aunt said to me. Are you thinking about something or do you merely think you are thinking about something?' I said. I wish folks would let me alone. My teacher has gave me a spring poem to learn to speak Friday and I am trying to remember-ize it." My aunt said. Go over to the couch and pretend we are the scholars and let us hear it.' So I went over to the couch and swung one foot around in a half circle and bowed almost double and recited

Every road we go along
Every field is fair
Spring has come across the world,
Blossoms in her hair
Every breeze across the fields
Brings a new perfume
Every dogwood in the world
Bursting into bloom

Nobody clapped or anything when I went back to my place. I looked around and everyone was looking at my aunt. My father and uncle got up and put on their coats and went and my mother gathered up some dishes and went to the kitchen, and my grandfather got up and said I was doing fine, and went out on his flat wheel. My aunt looked so paralyzed that I couldn't eat and I grabbed my hat and hiked.

General admiration for what is called the he man doesn't prevent the other kind from multiplying.

Love's Awakening

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affections

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Webb Imperious Wrath of Princess Olina

IF a glance possessed explosive power I would have been in ashes at the feet of Princess Olina when I had finished my purposely patronizing little speech assuring her that no one would have the opportunity to talk to Prince Carlos before herself, but impressing the impossibility of her ever seeing him before the morrow. Her great eyes were suddenly so like that I thought involuntarily of the baleful glance supposed to be sent out by dreaded gorgonesses, her figure was drawn up to its full stately height and as I saw her hand dart out and then draw itself back again I felt whimsically that I might expect to hear her imperious voice shout "Off with her head!"

Mrs. Graham she began choklingly. How—

Please I put up my hand deprecatingly. You are my guest and over-night I must not trouble you any longer just now. I know that all this must be distasteful to you but your coming here is the only way to protect you from Mr. Underwood's judgment. Sorry to believe that we all are most glad to welcome you and are trying to do the very best we can for you and for Prince George. If you wish anything just touch that bell."

I was outside the room with the door closed I had been standing almost in the entrance—before she could answer. I had observed her sufficiently to know that beneath her imperiousness was a warm heart and a keen sense of justice. Purposely I had kept her from uttering the hasty words which I knew were upon her lips—words which neither of us could have ignored. Now I knew that they never would be said and I went to the little balcony off the hall leaving the door open for the summons which I was very sure would come to me. I did not wish to be in Mary's room or indeed engaged anywhere when the imperious young princess should conquer her arrogance.

I had not long to wait. Slowly from the kitchen below I heard the tinkle of Katie's bell which is connected with different bedrooms for summoning or for the two of my little maid who came tearing up the back stairs—impelled I knew, as much by her curiosity as her invariable desire to give good service and went to the door of the room which Olina occupied. The words of the princess were inaudible to me but Katie's were distinct in her usual high pitched tones.

Sure thing she somewere esop here, she not downstairs I find her for you not I say—tell her she coom by you lein? My little maid's voice was beseeching—also at distressing.

No no, Olina's words could be heard now. Ask her if I can come to her wherever she is."

Yah did better' Katie told her con balansy, and departed while I chuckled back a little laugh at Olina's quick descent from her pedestal and Katie's loyal protection of my dignity.

I waited until I heard Olina's door close and then I came swiftly from the balcony meeting Katie in the hall.

I tell dot Miss Lincoln I find you somewere esop here she told me triumphantly. She want me to tell her were she can coom see you. Were you want her

I will go to her at once Katie I said. Thank you for telling me and moved away before she could voice the protest which I knew was close to her lips.

When I tapped upon Olina's door she opened it quickly started back a step when she saw me.

Oh! she cried, impulsively I did not mean you to come to me, I meant to come to you. I want to tell you how—

I lightly put my hand over her lips smiling at her.

Suppose we consider it all said,' I told her softly but with decision. For better that way. I hate explanations and I know you must. Let me show you the closet and your bureau capacity. There is a cedar chest under these pillows'—I indicated Marion's window seat—'which will hold a number of gowns."

I shall be most comfortable, I assure you,' she said, 'and I want you to know how grateful I am to you for all your kindness. I—really—am terribly upset over all this."

She was very near to tears, and I put up my hands and took off the hat which she had not yet removed. I guessed that she had need motherless

Power Increase Asked

WOULD HELP RADIO IN MARION

by Cleveland Station

BY MAL L ROY

OHIO may have another superbroadcasting station if a petition presented the federal radio commission is granted Station WTAM of Cleveland has applied for permission to increase its power to 50 000 watts

Such a change in power rating would be welcomed by radio listeners in Marion Listeners here along with those in other sections of the state have been unable to get the Cleveland station with any degree of success since the reallocation of wave length took place last November

One of the greatest difficulties in the reception of WTAM in Marion was its low power and interference from southern stations on the low wave length

At the present time the Cleveland station is broadcasting with a power of 3500 watts Its present frequency of 1040 kilocycles will be retained if the commission grants the power increase

The increase in power would place WTAM on an equal footing with WLW at Cincinnati The southern Ohio station is rated at 50 000 watts and is received in Marion more than any other station

Marble Tourney and Dog Parade Planned as Special Boys' Week Features Here

City's Marble Shooting Champ Will Be Named in Contest Set for Next Monday and Tuesday; Dog Parade Set for Saturday, May 4

Final plans have been completed by Walter C. Brown, Boy Scout executive in Marion, for the annual marble tournament which will be held Monday and Tuesday of next week under the auspices of the scouts of the city, as a part of Marion's observance of Boys' Week, April 27 to May 4. The same rules which govern the state tournament to be held in Toledo this year by the Toledo Blade will be used by those in charge of the local tournament. All sixth grade boys in the city are eligible to compete.

The school eliminations will be held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the different school grounds of the city to determine the various school champions. At 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Central Junior high school the 11 school champions will meet to determine the city champion and to see which lucky boy gets the right to go to the state tournament at Toledo or Columbus.

Scouts in Charge

Brown has placed the following scouts in charge of the school eliminations Monday: George Howser, Mark ...; John Guthery, Greenwood; Paul Webb, Forest Lawn; John Cunningham, State Street; Charles Fye, St. Marys; Gene Hudson, Oak Street; Bob Ayres, Silver Street; Ralph Justice, Glenwood; George Mason, Oakland Heights; Bud Edsell, Olney Avenue; Don Quaintance, Pearl Street.

It will be up to these scouts to see that all the entrants observe the rules closely. A seven-foot ring will be used with 13 marbles in a ring. No more than four boys will be allowed to a ring.

Paul Webb, Charles Fye and George Mason have been asked by Brown to report to Central for duty on the finals. Troops one and two have also been called for police duty at the finals. These two troops will be in charge of Lycurgus Jevas and Ray Romine.

Cup for Champion

Finals at Central will be in charge of A. W. Kette and A. J. Berry, who are donating the loving cup that will be given the city champion.

The three rings at the finals will be in charge of Carl May, F. O. Rudolph and Bob Elliott.

The latest novelty to attract the boys' attention to national boys' week is the big dog parade which will be held Saturday afternoon, May 4. This parade will leave the Y. M. C. A. and go west on Church st. to Garden st. where it will turn north and go east on Center st. to State st. and back to the Y.

This parade is open to any boy in the city who has a dog or anything that closely resembles a dog. Prizes will not be awarded to the best looking dog but to the boy and dog who in the opinion of the judges best typify the American boy and his dog.

Those who turn out for the parade must be prepared to see most any kind of a mongrel from a Russian wolf to some nondescript hound. The dogs must be in leash and be led by the boy.

The judges will be several business men.

Plans for the other events of Boys' week are coming along in good shape and the first event of the week will start this Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the fairgrounds when the city-wide eighth grade track and field meet will swing into action.

OMAHA, Neb., April 25—Two persons are missing and two are suffering from injuries today following a series of tornadoes which swept through western Nebraska late yesterday.

There's a fall in store for the man who is above his work.

PAIN

YOU have, no doubt, used Bayer Aspirin for headaches and you know how promptly and completely it relieves the pain. But until you try it for some deep-seated pain such as neuritis or neuralgia you will not know its full effectiveness. Try using it to ward off a summer cold, or to break-up a cold that has a start. Or use it as a gargle for sore throat or tonsilitis. Then you'll realize why millions of users depend on it. These tablets are utterly harmless, as any doctor will tell you. Every drugstore has the genuine product, with Bayer on the box and on each tablet.

BAYER ASPIRIN

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

DELINQUENT REALTY TAX MOVING UPWARD

Total in Marion County Now $97,704, Overdue Personal Tax Decreases

Delinquent taxes on Marion county real estate have increased $78 756 76 in the last five years records in the office of the county auditor Pearl E Thomas reveal The present delinquencies in real estate taxes total $97 704 2 The delinquency in 1924 was $18 947 76

The greatest increase in delinquent taxes however was between the years 1921 and 1927 The increase in 1926 over 1927 amounted to only $115 00

In 1921 the total delinquency jumped more than $15 000 to reach $72 289 27 The increase the next year was considerably smaller the total moving up to $77 152 05 It was between 1926 and 1927 however that the largest increase was recorded During the latter year taxes amounting to $97 789 22 remained in arrears the increase being over $20 000

Delinquencies in personal property taxes reached the high point for the last five years in 1926 when $19 127 87 remained unpaid The present delinquency of $59 599 10 however is only about $7 000 above the 1921 total of $51 951 81 In 1925 the personal property taxes unpaid moved up to $50 780 21 over the 1924 mark The next year a boost of nearly $10 000 was recorded to reach the high mark of 1926 In 1927 the delinquency was cut down to $42 409 67 A further reduction of more than $2 000 brought the total down to the present mark

According to officials in the court house the reduction in personal property tax delinquencies since 1926 is due chiefly to the activities of a special tax collector employed by County Treasurer James J Messenger

EUROPEAN COMBINE UPSET BY TALKIES

Greatest Foreign Merger of Film Interests Halted by New Development

LONDON April 25—The greatest merger of European movie interests that has ever been undertaken may be still born as the result of the 'talkie' craze created by American sound pictures, which has split the nearly complete combine wide open it was learned today by International News Service

Formed for the purpose of breaking the American hold on the European movie market this combine includes the great Emelka and Deutsche Lichtspiel syndicate one of the largest producing and distributing companies in Germany It also holds controlling interest in several French companies and is dominated by British interests which recently floated one of five proposed new companies under the name of Supremacy Films Ltd

The first big production to be undertaken by this combine was the filming of Col T E Lawrence's famous book Revolt in the Desert It was arranged to take all the scenes in Arabia where location had already been selected and the cast was scheduled to leave for Arabia this month

Stop Production Work

All work on this production has been temporarily suspended as has that on future feature productions The reason is that the board of directors composed of the heads of the various companies forming the combine are utterly perplexed as to what to do about the talkie sensation that American sound films have caused over here in the past three months

Everything is at a standstill over the talkies A J Wiesler head of one of the foremost financial houses in London and originator of the combine told International News Service

The question of whether or not the sound pictures have come to stay and if so whether the demand for them in the long run will outdo that for the silent films has caused a wide split in our combine

Upsets His Plans

Some are for the talkies and others are steadfastly against them Until we can decide definitely what to do the future projects of the combine is bound to be stymied

Pacing up and down the floor of a little room in the heart of the financial district where for over a year he has worked on the plans of what was intended to be the largest movie combine in the world this man talked in agitated tones of how Hollywood's latest gift to the world of amusement had upset his plans

LEGION JUNIOR

8 TEAMS EXPECTED TO TAKE PART IN LEAGUE THIS YEAR

Nine Signing Up Players, Looking Out for Start of Tourney

THE American Legion Junior baseball league will open play in March on Saturday, May 1 according to an announcement made here today by Walter L Hane athletic officer of the local post who is in charge of the tourney here.

The local and county champion ships in sub-district No 1 must be decided by June 5 when the inter county series will open according to Mr Hane The opening date announced today is several weeks earlier than the one originally planned

Several of the teams that played in the local league last year have started to work out. Some of the teams will lose one or more players who will be over the age limit of 17 and some players will be shifted from one team to another The Dodgers Marion county champions of last year and runners up in the inter county series will lose Melly who did most of their box work He will be over age Taner will depend on Adams the colored boy, who pitched a wonderful game last year against Carey and placed the Dodgers in second place in the inter county series The Dodgers claim to have strengthened their team by signing several players who played last year with the Elks and Wildcats

The Lintz brothers, who last year played second and short for the Kiwanis team have signed with the K of C team In addition to these two players the Kiwanis team will lose its regular battery Frank and Harrold under the age limit rule However they are well fortified by a number of substitutes from last year and several new men

Manager Knappenberger of the Wildcats is not giving out any detailed information but says his team will be ready for their first game with a combination that will make all the other teams hustle

Several new teams are being organized so that it is expected that the league will consist of eight teams two more than last year

GIANTS IN LEAD AS PIRATES BEAT CUBS

Cut Throat Tactics of Western Clubs in National League Helps Out New York, Athletics Top American Race, Beating Senators

THE National league race today has settled down into the regular April procedure—a case of the three strong western clubs cutting each others throats while the New York Giants the only real team in the eastern division of the loop pile up a comfortable lead The state of affairs probably will continue until a week from tomorow when the St Louis Cardinals open the eastern invasion against the Giants in New York

The Giants are back in first place today while the Cubs Pirates and Cards are practically deadlocked as a result of Chicagos 5 to 4 defeat by Pittsburgh yesterday The Pirates nicked Root for four runs in the third but the Cubs came back to tie up the game only to lose it eventually on Sheckley's double in the thirteenth

Carl Hubell, elongated New York southpaw demonstrated that he is as good as ever when the Giants thumped the Phils 9 to 2 Jackson and Ott contributed home runs.

With the aid of heavy hitting by Foxx and Simmons George Earnshaw beat Washington 9 to 1 and lifted the Athletics into first place in the American league Foxx had four hits including a homer

The Yankees handed the Red Sox a 9 to 3 shellacking Hoyt outpitching Ruffing

Husing performed their season's stunt by leading the National league for a week the Boston Braves lost to Brooklyn again 5 to 3 and dropped to second place Jumbo Jim Elliott Brooklyn's 235 pound southpaw helped win his own game with a single

DEMPSEY BIG FLOP AS FIGHT PROMOTER AROUND NEW YORK

Says He Is "Considering" Offers To Stage Matches in 15 Cities

BY DAVIS J WALSH

NEW YORK April 25—As a promoter this man Dempsey may be just a good prize fighter in New York estimated on what he has done to date but he's still a wow to the rest of the populace and he proved it today when he declared that he was considering offers to promote fights in at least 15 cities throughout the nation Among those mentioned offhand were Philadelphia Cleveland St Louis Baltimore Asheville N C Seattle Los Angeles Toronto Montreal Windsor Ont Chicago Detroit and Tampa Fla and the Jersey friend indicated that there were others equally insistent that life wouldn't be quite the same without him

Asheville he said wants him to come down there and put on another Stribling fight it being that city's contention that it can draw more Georgia than did Miami Peach for the gripping encounter with the boy The invitation is said to have come from the American Legion which claims to have an arena ready to handle St Louis wants him to dedicate its new coliseum with a bi time fight Cleveland places a 15 000 arena at his disposal Chicago is the scene of negotiations for an indoor arena site and Detroit finds him fixing to play outdoors this summer with the first good spot that he can wangle

He Philadelphia had forwarded by George Orton is said to have offered Dempsey the use of the municipal stadium in case he discovers that he has a fight too big for Ebbets field I'm pretty sure of this because it is a matter of record that he has no fights at all He in fact has been doing nothing on a very elaborate scale for the first several months of his career as a promoter here and the belief is gaining acceptance that he is likely to be without particular significance to New York boxing this year There is only one absolute exception to this statement. It calls for Dempsey to give himself up and publicly confess that he is a prize fighter As such he can dominate the heavyweight situation and make the Garden corporation or any other pauper to his whims As a local promoter he figures to put on a few fights at Ebbets field provided he gets the men he wants He doesn't seem to have any definite idea of what the immediate future will develop

SPECTACULAR CATCH BEATS INDIANS, 7-6

Protests Fail To Change Umpires' Decision on Play, Tribe Will Face George Uhle of Tigers Again Today

BY BOB LLLIOTT

JOE SEWELL on third, Charlie Jamieson on second two men out and Luke Sewell hard hitting Cleveland catcher at the bat, was the scene that presented itself to the fans who attended the opening of the Detroit Tigers baseball season at Navin field yesterday afternoon

Luke the Sewell walloped the next pitch from Mr Lil Stoner on a low line to short center field Harry Rice came tearing in sid on his chest for a few feet and five seconds later came up with the ball The game was over and the Bengals had won their first home start of the season by a 7 to 6 score

Manager Roger Peckinpaugh wailed loud and long protests to both Umpires Bill Dineen and Dick Nallin but just like the horses you can't beat the umpire So as it seemed to be the general consensus in the local camp that Mr Rice had just managed to pull a fairly fast one on the well known handlers of the indicators as well as 30 000 rabid Detroit fans.

However it is all over and today the tribe is trailing in fourth place exactly on game ahead of the Tigers who are in fifth Today the tribe had to face George Uhle and were all set to mar George's debut before the home town fans Mr Uhle has won both his starts on the road this season The Tigers hammered John Miljus out of the box yesterday in the sixth inning after solving his delivery for six hit runs Mel Harder and Ben Holloway who succeeded him had little to fool the Detroit murderers row although the Tigers failed to score Tavener and Joe Sewell were the big noises for the tribe with three bingles each Charlie Jamieson the leagues leading hitsmith continued his merry way with two out of three Harry Heilmann led the Detroit outfit with two singles and a home run

Cincinnati was rained out in its scheduled game at St Louis but the game will be played off as part of a double header this Saturday

Jack Hendricks announced that he would start Pete Donohue against the Cards whenever the series opened

Included in this announcement was the word that Swanson the Red outfielder would start [illegible] garden

KENTON April 25—Plans for the resurfacing of the public square this spring are now nearing completion in the offices of the Hardin county surveyor and will be ready for presentation to Kenton city council for its approval probably by May 1.

The cost will reach approximately $18,000.

The action is the outgrowth of the disappearance of $240 in small amounts during the past year.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 30 years and calomel's old time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while testing patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No grip, no "the keynote" of these little sugar-coated olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a dark brown mouth—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation—dull and quick sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.—

W H C—Riverside, Calif.

I drove my Erskine Coupe over the toughest part of this state for 1525 miles at a total operating expense of $15.80, averaging 28½ miles to the gallon of gas. At times I was confronted with 5 and 10% hills that stretched 9 to 23 miles. She is still hitting on all six and is ever ready to go.

Think it is the greatest little car on the road. Have never been in second since I had it and we have some mountains and hills out here too.
F D T.—Northboro, Mass.

Erskine Owners Sing Praises

We have driven our Erskine 24,976 miles and the best part about it, we have never had one bit of work done on it, not even clean the carbon, grind valves, not even set the valves. All we ever did to it was drive it past 60 miles per.

I consider it the most beautiful car in any price class as well as the greatest value.

I can drive my Erskine all day and never get tired. It is most comfortable and it cannot be beat for the money.
H H—Pennsgrift, Penna.

My Erskine is second to none, and I have owned several cars and driven many. It has the world beat in every way for its small cost.
N. O. P.—Durand, Ill.

Erskine Owners—Best Salesmen

The Erskine is the best car for my practice I have had in 18 years, and I have had some expensive ones.
Dr A. V. F—Sapulpa, Okla.

It is the best looking of any car on the road in my estimation. It is the best riding light car I have driven.

J. J. Stelford, J. D. Williamson and L. D. Zachman have been named as appraisers of the estate of the late Henry Strelitz. The estate, in an estimate made in probate court for the purpose of fixing the amount of bond of the executor, is valued at $275,000. This includes personal property worth $100,000 and real estate valued at $175,000.

The Henry Strelitz will, which was recently filed in probate court, leaves the bulk of the personal property to a sister, nieces and nephews. Henrietta Sugarman, a sister, of Appleton, Wis., is given $35,000. A niece, Helen A. Sugarman, is bequeathed $5,000. A bequest of $20,000 is made to a nephew, Robert B. Cohn, of Canton. Augusta Cohn, a grand niece, is given $1,000. Rosalie M. Steinhauser, of Columbus, and Dorothy M. Strelitz, of Marion, nieces, and J. Malcolm Strelitz, of Marion, a nephew, are given $5,000 each.

The will directs that the residue of the personal property and all real estate should go to Mitchel Strelitz, deceased, a brother of the late Henry Strelitz. The will also appoints Mitchel Strelitz and J. Malcolm Strelitz executors of the estate. Three years are given in which to close the estate.

Bond of $200,000 will be given by the executor with Rosalie M. Steinhauser, Dorothy M. Strelitz and Julia O. Strelitz as surety. The will, made in 1913, was witnessed by J. E. Waddell, H. M. Dombaugh and C. N. Phillips.

KILLS SELF AFTER SHOOTING DETECTIVE

Accused Auto Thief Takes Life To Escape Capture in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, April 25 — After wounding a detective during a gun battle here today, Frank Resler, 31, of Rochester, N. Y., accused automobile thief, fled, crawled into a dog kennel, and, realizing he was about to be captured, committed suicide by firing a bullet into his head.

Detectives Henry Jancovski and William Evans had been sent out to pick up the fugitive following receipt of a telegram from New York City police.

As the police car drew alongside of Resler's machine, the latter drew his pistol. He and Detective Jancovski fired at the same time. Several shots were exchanged as Resler fled down the street with the detectives in pursuit.

Jancovski received a bullet wound in the shoulder, which is not thought serious, and Resler was shot in the abdomen. Dodging between houses, the fugitive crawled into a dog kennel, hoping to elude the officers.

As the detectives approached and commanded him to come out, Resler fired a bullet into his head, dying in a hospital later. A woman companion, believed to have been his wife, who was in the automobile, was taken into custody.

BAN 31 AMENDMENTS TO HAUGEN MEASURE

Hoover Nears His First Congressional Victory; Debenture Plan Ruled Out

WASHINGTON, April 25—President Hoover neared his first congressional victory today in the passage by the house of the Haugen farm relief bill setting up a federal farm board to encourage cooperative marketing with the backing of a $500,000,000 appropriation.

The first high hurdle has been cleared by administration leaders in preventing consideration of the old equalization fee plan of farm relief. The export debenture plan of the national grange also will be ruled out of order.

Thirty-one attempted amendments to the Haugen bill had been defeated as the house continued to work on amendments to the measure today.

Representative Haugen, Republican, of Iowa, chairman of the agriculture committee, was driving the bill steadily toward a final vote with virtually solid Republican support and with the machine-like precision with which the old McNary-Haugen bills were rolled through the house.

The senate meantime continued to debate upon the McNary bill, similar to the Haugen bill except for inclusion of the export debenture feature as an optional plan. In the senate there is little likelihood of an early vote.

MT. GILEAD—Chapel exercises, which are being held in the local high school each Wednesday forenoon, were conducted yesterday by Rev. D. H. Miller of the local Baptist church.

Upon her arrival here early today, Mrs. Thaden said she was through with spectacular flying and denied reports that she was planning another endurance flight in June in a plane now being specially constructed at Wichita, Kan.

Her record broken yesterday by Miss Elinor Smith, Mrs. Thaden intimated that from now on her flying will be devoted solely to her own pleasure. Mrs. Thaden will remain in Pittsburgh indefinitely.

John W. Drew. Death resulted from a second stroke of paralysis sustained 10 weeks ago.

Mrs. Volkmar was born July 27, 1868, in Taylor township, a daughter of John and Sara Hisey Shirk, deceased. She was a member of the Congregational church here, of the W. R. C., the W. C. T. U., the W. R. A., of which she had been elected chaplain for life, and of the Mayflower circle of King's Daughters.

FOUR UNDER ARREST IN RACKET DEATHS

Cleveland Police More Interested in Finding Bomb Throwers, However

CLEVELAND, April 25—With four suspects under arrest, police here today continued their efforts to solve the murders of Isadore Shiller, 43, and Morris "Skinny" Fuerstman, 27, who were "taken for a ride" and beaten to death early yesterday.

Authorities here were frankly only a little aroused over the double slaying. Both victims had long criminal records, ranging from safe-cracking to bootlegging.

Any one of the four men held in connection with the case could have had reason for killing Shiller and Fuerstman, as could numerous others, detectives say. The two men were known, even in underworld circles, as "double-crossers" and "hi-jackers," according to police.

While the search for the killers of Fuerstman and Shiller, proceeded police and detectives were putting forth their utmost efforts to capture the persons who attempted to bomb the homes of two Cleveland police officers yesterday.

Dynamite bombs were exploded in front of the home of Police Capt. William M. McMaster and an apartment house, one suite of which was formerly occupied by Police Sergt. Patrick Holland and his family.

GIRL BREAKS OUT OF PRISON, WALKS 67 MILES

CAMDEN N. J., April 25—Ruth Marie Cundiff, 15, is being held in police headquarters here today for West Virginia authorities who are enroute to take her back to the West Virginia State Industrial School for Girls, from which she escaped last Washington's birthday after a 67-mile trek through a wilderness. The girl is under sentence to serve six years for violating a 9:30 p. m. curfew law in Sistersville, W. Va., where she was visiting an aunt.

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cundiff of this city, declare that Marie Myers, 19, a paroled inmate of the home, told the West Virginia authorities of Ruth's whereabouts. The Myers girl had been visiting the Cundiffs.

It is a time for practical thought in correct choice of the mortician engaged.

CONTRIBUTING funeral service that is deep in character of attention and care, and high in policy, principle and practice, we hold to the belief that the funeral is an award to a loved one departed—not merely a final consequence and necessity alone. Money Worries Cause Industrials To Drop

STREET ATTEMPTS STOP LOAN INCREASE

Wave of Selling Hits Oils as Overproduction Continues

RATE 10 PER CENT

Bullish Rampage Expected To Interrupt "Correction of Market

BY W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Financial Editor

NEW YORK, April 25—Industrial stocks drifted off to a lower level of prices today under the combined effect of a tightening of money rates, with call loans back to 10 per cent, nonchalance over the "hookey loan" situation, heavy profit taking by the bulls and short selling by the professionals, who figured that the market was "due for a reaction."

The usual Thursday nervousness made itself felt about the time that the weekly guesses on the amount of the increase in brokers' loans began to filter into Wall Street. The three weeks' consecutive record of loan decreases are about to be interrupted, because of the flaring up of the bull movement in the stock market this week and many of the conservative stock leaders believe that the market should have been permitted to "correct itself" still farther by keeping up the reduction in loans to about $300,000,000.

A wave of selling in the oil stocks was Wall Street's reaction to the continued overproduction of crude oil and the prospects of the stopping of this wastage through cooperation with the state agencies. Simms Petr reacted all the way back to 36, or about 4¼ points below yesterday's high price and losses of a point or two were recorded in other active standard and independent oils.

The bull rampage in stock this week will probably cause an increase in brokers' loans which was something the conservative forces in Wall Street were anxious to avoid. Whether or not it has been possible to manipulate the money market as successfully as at other times will be told when the report is issued after the close today.

Allis Chalmers, at the head of the high-priced specialties, added 6½ points to yesterday's 15-point jump and sold at 200. Consolidated Gas, Briggs Manufacturing and a few others moved against the market, but persistent selling of Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel, Radio, General Motors and other speculative leaders carried prices down a point or two.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Leaf lettuce added another five-cent rain to its already high price this morning, bringing the price to 20 cents a pound on Marion markets. Head lettuce remains at two heads for 25 cents. The scarcity of leaf lettuce now causes the price to stand high. Anticipation of locally grown lettuce within a month has resulted in very little being shipped in from other territories, and consequently the supply is limited.

A new item appearing in the market list this morning is the green onion, which sells three for ten cents. These may be used "raw" and unmixed with any other food, or they may be used with cucumbers and vinegar.

Home-grown rhubarb sought even lower levels this morning after a series of drops in the last two weeks. It is now selling two bunches for nine cents, a drop of a half-cent a bunch from the former price of five cents a bunch.

Strawberries are back to 19 cents this morning. They have not been enjoying the popularity they sometimes have this time of year. Some of the berries are quite tasty and fresh, and suitable for use in shortcakes, as well as with cream.

California oranges range in price from 19 to 69 cents. Hothouse tomatoes were higher this morning, jumping from 20-25 cents to 25-30 cents on local markets.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 25—Grains rallied modestly yesterday from their sharp downward price trend of the last week. With the exception of a short but sharp reaction near mid-session, all the markets displayed a firm tone throughout the day. The close was decidedly firm, leading to a rather general expectation that the upward corrective action may carry some further.

Wheat prices closed at net advances of 1¾@1c. Corn was 1@1¾c higher; oats ¾@¾c up; and rye 2¾@3c higher. Winnipeg wheat futures closed 1¾@1½c up.

Sentiment toward wheat continued bearish, but after seven consecutive days of declining prices the trade felt a reaction was due. Liverpool's unexpected strength, with closing prices ⅝@1d higher based on the denial of rumors of trouble in the Canadian pool, was sufficient to cause short covering, local and commission house buying. The local market opened sharply higher and advanced readily in the rest of the privileges.

Selling at this level was of sufficient volume to check the advance and a reaction in which the day's lows were made followed. Offerings disappeared on the break and the market rallied quickly to close near the highs. Liquidation of May wheat continued and was responsible in great part for the mid-session break. The open interest statement showed another substantial decline in May, but a gain for the total.

Export sales of wheat in all positions were estimated at upwards of 2,000,000 bu, mainly Manitobas. Otherwise news of the wheat situation showed little change and a rally in futures prices was looked upon as mainly technical. Crop reports continued very optimistic.

Corn Opens Strong

Strength in wheat and a better buying demand brought sharply higher corn prices in the opening trade. Offerings were of little volume until the cost of the privileges was reached. Sales against the latter and the break in wheat caused a reaction, but the market also rallied well before the close.

Unfavorable weather conditions over the belt, with planting delayed in some sections, again attracted attention. However, this has a normal aspect also, inasmuch as a delayed season this month may mean a switch of considerable acreage to corn. Cash corn continued to meet with an active demand.

In the spot market wheat was 1@2c higher; corn unchanged to 1c lower; oats steady; rye dull and barley steady.

Corn inspected: Wheat, 11 cars; 61 cars; 48 cars; rye, none; and barley 9.

RAIN FORECAST

Same Weather Storm Lined to Continue and Precipitation More

Cloudy weather with rain tonight and probably rain Friday is the local weather forecast according to the official forecast. The end weather today and Friday will be accompanied by strong shifting winds and gales, it is predicted.

Yesterday's high was 69, which was considerably above the normal for that date, and 16 degrees lower than the low was 53, or 15 degrees lower than the normal for that date. The mean temperature was 61, as compared with a normal mean temperature of 45.
